4.10 Honour the confidentiality of conversations with detainees and consider all records, documents and discussions as being confidential;

4.11 Perform all duties and conduct all private affairs in a manner that avoids conflicts of interest;

4.12 Refrain from engaging in any transaction or action that is in conflict with or infringes on the performance of official duties;

4.13 Refrain from acting in a manner that will jeopardise the safety of a person in custody; and

STANDING ORDER (G) 341

ARREST AND THE TREATMENT OF AN ARRESTED PERSON UNTIL SUCH PERSON IS HANDED OVER TO THE COMMUNITY SERVICE CENTRE COMMANDER

1. Background
Arrest constitutes one of the most drastic infringements of the rights of an individual. The rules that have been laid down by the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996, the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 (Act No. 51 of 1977), other legislation and this Order, concerning the circumstances when a person may be arrested and how such person should be treated, must therefore be strictly adhered to.

There are several legislative provisions authorising the removal and detention of persons without actually arresting such persons, for example, the removal of a child in terms of the Children’s Act, 2005 (Act No 38 of 2005) for the purposes of taking such child to a place of safety. Another example is the removal and, in certain specific instances, the detention of a mentally ill person in terms of the Mental Health Care Act, 2002 (Act No. 17 of 2002). It is important to note that the provisions of this Order will not be applicable in those circumstances because, although the person is being detained, such person has not been arrested by a member.

2. Definitions
(1) In this order, unless the context otherwise indicates, “First Schedule” means the First Schedule to the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 (Act No. 51 of 1977).

(2) Any reference in this order to “reasonable suspicion/grounds” must be interpreted to mean that a person will have “reasonable suspicion/grounds” to believe or suspect something or that certain action is necessary if:
(a) he or she really ‘believes’ or ‘suspects’ it;
(b) his or her belief or suspicion is based on certain facts from which he or she has drawn an inference or conclusion; and
(c) any reasonable person would, in view of those facts, also have drawn the same conclusion.
3. Securing the attendance of an accused at the trial by other means than arrest

   (1) There are various methods by which an accused’s attendance at a trial may be secured. Although arrest is one of these methods, it constitutes one of the most drastic infringements of the rights of an individual and a member should therefore regard it as a last resort.

   (2) It is impossible to lay down hard and fast rules regarding the manner in which the attendance of an accused at a trial should be secured. Each case must be dealt with according to its own merits. A member must always exercise his or her discretion in a proper manner when deciding whether a suspect must be arrested or rather be dealt with as provided for in subparagraph (3).

   (3) A member, even though authorised by law, should normally refrain from arresting a person if -

   (a) the attendance of the person may be secured by means of a summons as provided for in section 54 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977; or

   (b) the member believes on reasonable grounds that a magistrate’s court, on convicting such person of that offence, will not impose a fine exceeding the amount determined by the Minister from time to time by notice in the Government Gazette, in which event such member may hand to the accused a written notice as a method of securing his or her attendance in the magistrate’s court in accordance with section 56 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977.

   (4) If a member is satisfied that the attendance of the person may be secured by means of a summons as provided for in section 54 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, the member must open a docket and refer it to the public prosecutor for the public prosecutor to have a summons issued. The summons may then be served on the person.

4. The object of an arrest

   (1) General rule

   As a general rule, the object of an arrest is to secure the attendance of such person at his or her trial. A member may not arrest a person in order to punish, scare, or harass such person.

   (2) Exceptions to the general rule

   There are circumstances where the law permits a member to arrest a person although the purpose with the arrest is not solely to take the person to court. These circumstances are outlined below and constitute exceptions to the general rule that the object of an arrest must be to secure the attendance of an accused at his or her trial. These exceptions must be studied carefully and members must take special note of the requirements that must be complied with before an arrest in those circumstances will be regarded as lawful.

(a) Arrest for the purpose of further investigation

If a member has a reasonable suspicion that a person has committed a First Schedule offence but realises that further investigation will be necessary before it will be possible to determine whether the suspect should be charged, such member may arrest the suspect if the detention of the suspect is necessary to complete such further investigation. It is thus proper for a member to arrest such a person with the purpose of conducting further investigation and, depending on the outcome of such further investigation, to charge or release the person. A member may only arrest a person for this purpose if such member has reasonable grounds to believe that the investigation will be hampered should the person not be arrested. This will normally be the case if such member has reasonable grounds to believe that:

(i) the person will either abscond, do away with an article required as an exhibit, interfere with a witness or otherwise endeavour to evade or defeat the ends of justice;

(ii) it is necessary for the purpose of the investigation of the case to establish the bodily features of that person and such person refuses to submit himself or herself voluntarily to the examination of his or her bodily features as provided for in section 37 of the said Act; or

(iii) such person is an illegal foreigner (a person who is not a South African citizen and is in South Africa in contravention of the Immigration Act (Act No. 13 of 2002)) or a person who is a prohibited person in terms of section 29 of the Immigration Act, 2002. Such person may be arrested without a warrant and be detained for purposes of conducting an investigation in terms of the said Act which may lead to the obtaining of a warrant from the Minister of Home Affairs authorising such person’s removal from the Republic.

(b) Arrest to verify a name and/or address

In the circumstances provided for in section 41(1) of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, a member may request a person to furnish... his or her full name and address. If such a person furnishes a name or address which the member reasonably suspects to be false, such member may arrest the person and detain him or her for a period of twelve hours in order to verify the name and address.

(c) Arrest in order to prevent the commission of an offence
In terms of section 40(1)(f) of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, a member may arrest a person whom he or she finds at night in circumstances which afford reasonable grounds for believing that such person is about to commit an offence. The purpose with the arrest in these circumstances is to prevent the commission of an offence. Such a person may only be detained until the member is satisfied that the person did not commit any offence and will not proceed to commit an offence.

(d) Arrest in order to protect a suspect
If a member is authorised by any legislation to arrest a person and such member has reasonable grounds to believe that such person may be killed or be seriously injured unless he or she is immediately arrested, such member may arrest such person in order to protect him or her. (This would normally be the case when the suspect is threatened by the victim of the offence or a mob of people that he or she will be assaulted or be killed.) Such person may normally be detained until he or she is brought before a court and the court has decided whether he or she should be released or be further detained.

(e) Arrest in order to end an offence
If a person may be arrested in terms of any legislation and a failure to arrest the person will result in the person continuing to commit an offence, such person may be arrested to prevent him or her from continuing to commit an offence. (This would for instance be the case where a person trespasses on property and refuses to leave the property.) Such person must be detained and be taken to court in accordance with the normal procedure.

5. The requirements for a lawful arrest
For an arrest to be lawful and for lawful continued detention after arrest, the following four requirements must be complied with:

(a) The arrest (with or without a warrant) must have been properly authorised.
There must be a statutory provision authorising the arrest. (See paragraphs 6(1) and (2) below).

(b) The member who effected the arrest must exercise physical control over the person who has been arrested. (See paragraphs 7(1) and (2) below).

(c) The person who has been arrested must be informed of the reason for his or her arrest and of the rights that he or she has as an arrested person, in terms of section 35(1) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996. (See paragraph 7(4) below).

(d) The person who has been arrested must be brought to the appropriate place as soon as possible. (See paragraph 8(7) below).

For information regarding the period of 48-hours after arrest, within which an arrested person must be brought before a court, refer to Standing Order (G) 361.

6. Manner of effecting an arrest

(1) General rule - Arrest with a warrant

(a) An arrest should preferably be effected only after a warrant for the arrest has been obtained in terms of section 43 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977.

(b) In order to obtain a warrant of arrest a member must in writing apply to a magistrate or justice of the peace for the issuing of a warrant in terms of section 43 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977. A copy of the application must be filed in the docket. The said section also provides that Directors of Public Prosecutions and public prosecutors may also apply for a warrant of arrest.

(c) Once a warrant for the arrest of a person has been issued to a member, any member may execute such warrant. It is accordingly not necessary for the warrant to be executed by a particular member.

(2) Arrest without a warrant

(a) It is only in exceptional circumstances where a member is specifically authorised by an Act of Parliament (for example, sections 40 and 41 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977) to arrest a person without a warrant, that a person may be arrested without a warrant. Any arrest without a warrant, which is not specifically authorised by law, will be unlawful.
Standing Order (G) 341

Arrest and the treatment of an arrested person until such person is handed over to the community service centre commander

(b) Section 40(2) of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, determines that if provision is made in a statute for a member to arrest a person without a warrant, subject to certain conditions or to the existence of certain circumstances mentioned in the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, those conditions must be present and those circumstances must exist before the arrest is made.

(c) Section 41 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, provides that a member may call upon any person-

(i) whom he or she reasonably suspects of having committed any offence or of having attempted to commit any offence; or

(ii) who may, in his or her opinion, be able to give evidence in regard to the commission or suspected commission of any offence, to furnish his or her full name and address.

(d) If the person referred to in subparagraph (c), fails to furnish his or her full name and address, or the member reasonably suspects that a false name or address has been given, the member may forthwith arrest him or her. In the event that the person refuses to furnish his or her name or address, or furnishes a false name or address, such person is guilty of an offence and should be charged with the offence in the normal manner.

7. Physical execution of an arrest

(1) Exercise of physical control

The member must confine the freedom of movement of the arrested person. Section 39 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, determines that, unless the person who has been arrested submits to custody, an arrest is effected by actually touching his or her person or, if the circumstances so require, by forcibly confining his or her person.

(2) Amount of force which may be used in effecting arrest

(a) As a rule there should be no need for the use of force, and, in every case where it may be necessary, only such force as may be reasonably necessary to overcome resistance to the arrest, may be used. No justification whatsoever exists for beating, kicking or otherwise ill-treating an arrested person and there is no excuse whatsoever for a member to act in this manner. Any member found guilty of an offence as a result of the use of force while effecting an arrest where the use of such force cannot be justified, must expect to be dealt with severely.
ANNEXURE 2

Standing Order (G) 341

Arrest and the treatment of an arrested person until such person is handed over to the community service centre commander

(b) Section 49 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, provides for circumstances where the use of force by a member towards a person who is resisting arrest or fleeing from arrest, may be justified. (For further information refer to the Instructions relating to the Use of Force in effecting an arrest set out in the Special Service Order contained in Circular 18/5/1 over 1/1/4/1(5) dated 2003-07-18).

(3) Entering of premises for the purpose of arrest

(a) Section 48 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, determines that before any premises are entered with the purpose of arresting any person whom a member has authority to arrest and who is known or suspected to be in/on such premises, such member must first –

(i) audibly demand entry into such premises; and

(ii) notify or announce the purpose for which entry is sought.

(b) If the member fails to gain entry after complying with the requirements stated in subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii), such member may break open, enter and search such premises for the purpose of effecting the arrest.

(4) Information that must be furnished to a person upon arrest

(a) In terms of section 35(1) of the Constitution, 1996, the information that must be furnished to a person at the time of or immediately after his or her arrest is as follows:

(i) the reason for his or her arrest;

(ii) that he or she has the right to remain silent and that anything he or she says, may be used as evidence against him or her in a court of law;

(iii) that he or she has a right to consult with a legal practitioner of his or her choice or that he or she may, if he or she so prefers, apply to the Legal Aid South Africa to have a legal practitioner assigned to the case at state expense; and

(iv) that he or she has the right to apply to be released on bail.

(b) Section 39(2) of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, requires that the person who effects an arrest must, at the time of effecting the arrest or immediately thereafter, inform the person who has been arrested of the reason for his or her arrest. It is not necessary to use the actual words of the charge - mentioning the offence would be sufficient. If the arrest took place by virtue of a warrant, a copy of the warrant must, upon his or her demand, be handed to the person who has been arrested.
Standing Order (G) 341

Arrest and the treatment of an arrested person until such person is handed over to the community service centre commander

(c) The information in subparagraph (a) must be furnished to the arrested person in a language which he or she understands. For this purpose the said information is printed on the first pages of the Pocket book (SAPS 206) in all eleven official languages. To ensure that a person is fully informed of these rights, the arresting member must read this information from the Pocket book to the arrested person in a language which the arrested person understands.

(d) If a member-
   (i) is unable to establish what language the person understands; or
   (ii) cannot speak the language that the person understands;
the member must read this information in English. In such a case, the member must, upon his or her arrival at the police station, inform the community service centre commander that the person does not understand English. It is the responsibility of the community service centre commander to ascertain what language the person understands in order to convey the information to the person in that language.

(e) Should a person volunteer any statement on arrest or prior to being formally charged at the community service centre, he or she must, once again, be informed of his or her rights as set out in subparagraph (a).

8. Procedure after arrest
   (1) Recording of the fact that the arrested person has been informed of his or her rights
      (a) A member who arrests a person must, as soon as possible after having furnished the information in paragraph 6(4)(a), to the arrested person, record in his or her Pocket book the fact that the information was so furnished.

      (b) The member must request the arrested person to acknowledge that he or she has been informed of his or her rights and that he or she understands the contents thereof, by signing next to the recording in the Pocket book, referred to in subparagraph (a).

      (c) If the arrested person refuses to sign in the Pocket book, a third person (whether a civilian or another member) who witnessed the person being informed of his or her rights, must be requested to sign next to the recording to certify that he or she has witnessed this and that the arrested person refused to sign. If a third person is not available, the member must make a recording in the Pocket book to the effect that a third person was not available to certify that the arrested person was informed of his or her rights and that the arrested person refused to sign the Pocket book.

(2) Presumption of innocence

(a) An arrested person has the right to be presumed innocent until proven guilty by a court of law. A member who arrests a person must therefore, at all times, control himself or herself and must never allow his or her belief in the guilt of the arrested person to move him or her to treat the arrested person in a manner which would amount to punishing the person for what the member believes that the person has done.

(b) Even though an arrested person must be presumed to be innocent, a member must do everything which may legally be done in order to obtain evidence which could be presented in court to prove the guilt of the arrested person. A member must also take every precaution necessary in the circumstances to ensure that the person is not allowed any opportunity to escape.

(3) Injuries sustained prior to or during arrest

Upon the arrest of a person, a member is obliged to ensure the safety of such person while in his or her care. The following provisions must be complied with:

(a) The member concerned must take all reasonable precautions to ensure that the person will not be injured and will not escape before arrival at the police station.

(b) Should the arrested person show any signs that he or she is seriously ill or is seriously injured, irrespective of whether the injury was sustained during the arrest or not, the member must follow the instructions as set out in Standing Order (G) 349.

(c) The member who effects an arrest which results in the arrested person being injured, must enter the particulars of the injuries, as well as the circumstances under which they were sustained or inflicted, as soon as possible in his or her Pocket book and in due course submit a full statement, for the information of the Public Prosecutor which must be included in the case docket. He or she must also report any injuries which the arrested person had.
Standing Order (G) 341

Arrest and the treatment of an arrested person until such person is handed over to the community service centre commander sustained prior or during the arrest to the community service centre commander upon arrival at the community service centre.

(4) Search of the arrested person

In terms of section 23 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, a member may search an arrested person. The purpose of such a search is twofold, namely to find any article that may be in such person's possession and which could be used as evidence, and to find any article which such person could use to injure himself or herself or any other person.

(a) Every arrested person must always, immediately upon his or her arrest, at least be searched to determine whether he or she has any concealed weapons on him or her.

(b) The search of an arrested person must be undertaken in a decent manner which displays respect for the inherent dignity of the person as required by section 29 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, and a person may only be searched by a person of the same gender.

(5) The use of restraining measures

(1) In order to curb the increasing number of escapes from police custody, a person must, upon his or her arrest, be placed in handcuffs and/or leg-irons (the latter depends on the circumstances). The circumstances when and the manner in which restraining measures may be used are set out in Standing Order (G) 350.

(2) Irrespective of whether restraining measures are used to secure an arrested person, members in charge of arrested persons must always remain alert until such persons are safely placed in a cell.

(6) Informing an employer in the case of arresting an employee

If a member has to arrest a person while such person is on duty and is in charge of his or her employer's property or business during the latter's absence, the member must take reasonable steps to inform his or her employer of the arrest and take reasonable steps to ensure that the employer's interests are safeguarded.

(7) Transporting the arrested person

(1) In terms of section 50(1) of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977, a person who has been arrested must as soon as possible be brought to –

(a) a police station; or
Standing Order (G) 341
Arrest and the treatment of an arrested person until such person is handed over to the community service centre commander

(b) in the case of an arrest by warrant, to the place stipulated in the warrant.

(2) The member, transporting the arrested person must drive carefully and must take the safest and shortest possible route to the police station or any other place specified in the warrant.

9. Handing suspect over to the community service centre commander

(1) Upon arrival at the police station, the member must hand the arrested person to the community service centre commander or the member in charge of the detention facilities at an office under the control of the Service, and provide such person with the following information:

(a) the name of the member who has arrested the person;
(b) the name of the person arrested;
(c) the reason for the arrest;
(d) the date, time and place of arrest; and
(e) whether the person sustained any injuries prior to or during the arrest (see paragraph 8(3)(c) above).

(2) The member must also, upon arrival at the police station, complete the Arrest Statement (SAPS 3M(i)) referred to in paragraph 10 below.

(3) If a person has been arrested on suspicion and it subsequently transpires that the suspicion was unfounded, he or she must immediately be released and if he or she has already appeared in court, the Public Prosecutor must be informed forthwith.

10. Completion of Arrest Statement (SAPS 3M(i))

(1) The Arrest Statement (SAPS 3M(i)) must be completed after the arrest of every suspect by the member who made the arrest. If the arrest was made by someone other than a member, the member to whom the arrested person was handed to, must complete the statement. In such an event a statement must be taken from the person that effected the arrest.

(2) Any force used during the arrest to overcome resistance or to prevent an escape, which resulted in injuries being sustained by the person during the arrest, must be recorded in a separate statement made by the member who applied the force. (Read together with paragraph 8(3)(c) above).

(3) The instructions, printed at the beginning of the Arrest Statement (SAPS 3M(i)), must be strictly adhered to.
Standing Order (G) 341
Arrest and the treatment of an arrested person until such person is handed over to the community service centre commander

(4) After the Arrest Statement (SAPS 3M(i)) has been completed, it must be filed under part “A” of the docket.
STANDING ORDER (GENERAL) 350

USE OF RESTRAINING MEASURES

1. Background
   The decision whether to use restraining measures on a person in custody depends on a variety of circumstances, for example, the type of offence which was committed, the character, reputation and behaviour of the arrested person, and the opportunities for escape.

   It is the duty of a member to take all reasonable precautions to prevent the escape of any person in custody though he or she may not use unnecessary force during an arrest or in the prevention of an escape.

   The purpose of this Order is to regulate the use of restraining measures, to restrict the number of escapes from police custody and to protect members against persons in custody.

2. Definitions
   In this Order, unless the context otherwise indicates -
   (a) "person in custody” means a person who has been arrested and who is in the custody of the Service and who has not yet been handed over or handed back to the Department of Correctional Services or any other institution for detention; and

   (b) “restraining measures” means handcuffs and/or leg irons which are issued and approved by the Head Logistics: Head Office.

3. Circumstances in which restraining measures may be used
   (1) Use of restraining measures when effecting an arrest
   (a) The general rule is that every person arrested for an offence must be placed in restraining measures until he or she is handed over to the community service centre commander or until he or she is placed in a police cell.

   (b) In exceptional circumstances where the member is of the opinion that, due to the physical condition of the person in custody and the nature or seriousness of the alleged offence, such person does not pose a threat or danger to either the member or another person, such member may decide not to apply restraining measures to an arrested person. A member must be guided by the circumstances of each particular case, but must bear in mind that if a person escapes through any neglect or lack of proper precautions by the member, he or she may face a disciplinary hearing for contravening regulation 20(a) of the South African Police Service Discipline Regulations, 2006.

(2) Use of restraining measures after arrival at a police station

(a) Restraining measures may be used when a person:
(i) is being detained in a police cell or any other detention facility; or
(ii) is removed and/or transported from one place to another (for example, the transport of a person in custody from the police cell to the court, etc).

(b) When a person is transported from a place of safe custody (under escort) to the court or to any other place for whatever reason, he or she may be kept in restraining measures. The restraining measures may be lifted when the person arrives back at a place of safe custody.

(c) The following factors must be considered in deciding whether restraining measures should be used:
(i) the nature and seriousness of the offence for which the person has been arrested or is charged with;
(ii) whether there are reasonable grounds to suspect that a person will attempt to escape;
(iii) where the behaviour (unruliness) of the person is of such a nature that it is difficult to restrain such a person; and
(iv) whenever it is necessary for the safe custody of a person or other detainees, or to prevent a person from damaging property.

(d) A member must decide whether or not he or she should make use of handcuffs only or handcuffs and leg-irons when restraining a person in custody.

4. Recording the use of restraining measures

(1) When a person in custody is, while being detained in a police cell or other detention facility, placed in restraining measures, the following actions must be taken:
(a) an entry must be made to this effect in the Occurrence Book;
(b) the person must be visited hourly; and
(c) the restraint must be lifted as soon as the circumstances allow it.

(2) The Occurrence Book entry must state:
(a) the time when the person was placed under restraint;
(b) the reason why the restraint was applied;
(c) by whom the restraint was applied; and
(d) the restraining measures used, eg handcuffs or leg-irons.

(3) An Occurrence Book entry must also be made when the restraint was lifted.

(4) The use of restraining measures in respect of a person after his or her arrest and during his or her transport to and from a police station need not be recorded in the Occurrence Book.

5. Basic principles when using restraining measures
(1) A member must ensure that the handcuffs or leg irons are not so tightly secured that the blood circulation of the person is impeded. The person should be allowed sufficient play for restricted movement but not enough for the wrists to turn around freely.

(2) When handcuffs or leg-irons are placed on a person in custody, it must be frequently inspected to ensure that it remains securely fastened and does not impede blood circulation.

(3) When a person in custody is fed, he or she may be handcuffed in front of his or her body to enable him or her to eat. Members must, however, take the necessary precautionary measurers to prevent an escape. After having had his or her meal, the person's hands must be handcuffed behind his or her back again.

(4) Should a person in custody while being transported, request to go to the toilet, both members must accompany him or her. The handcuffs must be removed in the toilet. Both members must take up position outside the toilet with the door slightly ajar, but in such a manner that the privacy of the person is not interfered with. After having used the toilet, the person’s hands must, once again, be handcuffed behind his or her back.

6. Ways in which a person in custody should be handcuffed
(1) Members must decide, depending on the circumstances, in which way to apply restraining measures.

(a) Normally, one clasp of the cuffs is placed around each one of the person’s wrists and is locked;

(b) Where circumstances necessitate this, -
(i) one clasp of the cuffs may be placed around one of the person’s wrists and be locked, while the other clasp is placed around the other wrist and the point thereof passed
Standing Order (General) 350

Use of restraining measures

Through the first clasp and is locked. This method will curtail any excessive free movement between the person’s wrists, without the latter being subjected to any risk of injury or impediment to his or her blood circulation; or

(ii) one clasp may be placed around the person’s wrist and it must be locked. The cuff must then be passed between the person’s thighs, while he or she is sitting down, and the other clasp must be locked around the other wrist.

(2) Subject to paragraph 5(3) (above), a person in custody must be handcuffed with his or her hands behind his or her back. The person’s hands must not be handcuffed in front of his or her body.

(3) A member of the Service may never handcuff himself or herself to a person in custody.

(4) If a person is uncontrollable, his or her ankles must be secured by means of leg irons.

(5) If it is necessary to place the person in custody under further restraint, the handcuffs and/or leg irons must be linked by means of suitable strong cord or a belt.

(6) In order to further restrain a person in custody, the handcuffs may be locked to the leg-irons.

(7) When dealing with hardened criminals, a member may also handcuff a person to a suitable fixed object (eg luggage rack of a compartment in a train). (See paragraph 7 below).

7. Restraining of persons in custody, while being transported by motor vehicle or patrol van

(1) (a) If it is necessary to transport one or two persons in custody by motor vehicle, the driver must, except under exceptional circumstances, be accompanied by a second member of the Service. The second member must sit on the back seat with the person in custody whose hands must be handcuffed behind his or her back. The safety belt in the rear of a sedan vehicle must also be fastened.

(b) In the event of three persons in custody being transported by motor vehicle, all three persons must be seated on the back seat with their hands handcuffed behind their backs. The safety belts... in the rear of a sedan vehicle must also be fastened. The second member must always be alert and wary to prevent any attempt by the persons in custody to jump out of the motor vehicle or to overwhelm the driver.

(2) (a) When a member travelling alone in a motor vehicle, arrests a person and it is, not reasonably possible to obtain the assistance of a second member or to have the person in custody transported by patrol van, the person in custody must occupy the front seat with his or her hands cuffed behind his or her back. The member must use the passenger’s safety belt to prevent the person in custody from hindering the driver or attempting to escape.

(b) Should it become necessary to arrest a second or third person, the member must use his or her discretion and where reasonably possible, summon assistance by radio or telephone.

(3) The doors of the motor vehicle must at all times be locked. If a vehicle is equipped with child safety locks such locks must be engaged.

(4) A person in custody who is transported in the back of a patrol van, must be handcuffed, and, where necessary, be placed in leg irons to prevent such person from escaping. Such person may however not be handcuffed to any part of the vehicle, to prevent him or her from being injured.

8. Restraining of persons in custody when appearing in court
(1) It is sometimes necessary for a person in custody to appear in court under restraint.

(2) The Public Prosecutor must always be made aware of the reasons why a person must appear in court under restraint to enable him or her to inform the court accordingly.

9. Restraining of persons in custody in hospital
Hospital staff should be warned of dangerous persons in custody or persons who have previously attempted to escape. All persons in custody must, unless the medical practitioner in charge of the person in custody instructs otherwise, be handcuffed and/or put in leg-irons where reasonably possible.

10. Restraining of a mentally ill person in custody
When the restraining of a mentally ill person in custody is necessary to prevent the person from injuring himself, herself or others, the following restraining procedures must be followed:
Standing Order (General) 350

Use of restraining measures

(a) the person must be handcuffed and be kept under surveillance; and
(b) because there are various sedatives which could be utilized to bring a mentally ill person under control, a member must, where reasonably possible, immediately obtain the help of -

(i) an available physician;
(ii) a district surgeon;
(iii) a registered clinical psychologist;
(iv) a psychologist in the service of the state; or
(v) a private doctor.

The outcome of any medical examination must similarly be recorded, together with the name of the medical practitioner and where the examination had taken place. The arrest statement must be filed under part A in the docket. In the event that no docket has been opened or is not readily available, the arrest statement must be kept in a file at the Community Service Centre for this purpose.

6. Notice of Constitutional Rights

   In order to ensure that a person in custody is duly informed of his or her rights in terms of the Constitution, the community service centre commander must issue a Notice of Constitutional Rights (SAPS 14A) (hereinafter referred to as “Notice”) to every person who is admitted into a detention facility. All the rights of an arrested and detained person, as set out in section 35(1) and (2) of the Constitution, are contained in this Notice.    (i) if he or she can read and speak that language, read the contents of the rights set out in the Notice to the person in custody in that language;

   (ii) if he or she cannot read and speak that language and —

       (aa) someone is available who can read and speak that language, request such person to read the contents of the rights set out in the Notice to the person in custody in that language; or

       (bb) if no one is available who can read and speak that language, read the contents of the rights set out in the Notice to the person in custody in English and take all reasonable steps to find someone who can read and speak that language. (b) If the language is not one of the official languages of the Republic the community service centre commander must —

   (i) if he or she can communicate in that language, convey the contents of the rights set out in the Notice to the person in custody in that language; or

If the person in custody is a foreigner, the relevant Ambassador or Consul-General may be contacted and requested to provide the services of someone who can communicate in that language. If such a person is found, paragraph (aa) must be complied with.

(c) An entry must be made in the Occurrence Book of any steps taken in terms of subparagraphs (a)(ii)(bb) or (b)(ii)(bb).

(4) If it is impossible to determine any language that the person in custody understands, such person should in any event be advised of his or her rights in English and in any other language in which the community service centre commander is able to communicate and which such commander suspects that the person in custody may understand. An appropriate entry to this effect must be made in the Occurrence Book.

(5) The community service centre commander must inform the person in custody that these are continuing rights which may be exercised at any stage during his or her detention.

(6) The community service centre commander must request the person in custody to complete the certificate provided for in the Notice. By doing so, the person in custody acknowledges that he or she has been informed of his or her rights in terms of the Constitution and that he or she understands the contents thereof.

(7) If the person in custody refuses to sign the Notice, a third person (a civilian or another member) who witnessed the rights being explained to the person, must sign the statement to certify that he or she has witnessed this and that the person in custody refused to sign the Notice.

(8) The number of the book in which the Notice appears and the reference number of the Notice given to the person in custody, must be recorded in the applicable columns of the Custody Register (see Standing Order(G) 362 for detailed instructions).

(9) The original Notice must be handed over to the person in custody who may take the Notice with him or her into the detention facility (also see paragraph 8(6)). The first copy of the Notice must be filed by the
8. Special groups

(1) Persons with hearing or speaking disabilities
If a person in custody appears to be deaf or there is doubt about his or her hearing or speaking ability and the community service centre commander cannot establish effective communication with him or her, the community service centre commander must, as soon as practicable, take steps to ascertain how to communicate with the person in custody, and call an appropriate interpreter to communicate with such person.

(2) Children
   (a) If the person in custody is a child (person below the age of 18 years), the community service centre commander must ensure that the child is dealt with in accordance with the National Instruction on Children in Conflict with the Law (National Instruction 2 of 2010).

   (b) The appropriate adult must, as soon as practically possible, be informed that the child has been arrested, the reasons therefor and the place where he or she is being detained. In the case of a child who is known to be subject to a supervision order, reasonable steps must be taken to notify the person supervising him or her. (Read together with paragraph 13(1)(d) of this Order regarding the separation of categories when detaining children and Standing Order(G) 292). The National Instruction on Children in Conflict with the Law (National Instruction 2 of 2010) must also be adhered to.

(3) Mentally ill persons
   (a) If a person in custody appears to be mentally ill, mentally handicapped or appears to be suffering from a mental disorder, the community service centre commander must, as soon as possible, inform an appropriate adult of the grounds for his or her detention and the place where he or she is being detained and ask the appropriate adult to visit the person in custody at the police station. (See Standing Order (G) 291 which specifically deals with the obligations of members in terms of the Mental Health Care Act, 2002 (Act No. 17 of 2002)).
Standing Order (General) 361  Handling of persons in the custody of the Service from arrival at the police station

(b) If the appropriate adult is already at the police station when information, as required in paragraph 6, is given to a person who is mentally ill, the information must be given to the person in custody in the presence of the appropriate adult. If the appropriate adult is not at the police station when the information is given, the information must be repeated to the person in custody in the presence of the appropriate adult, once such person arrives. The appropriate adult may be requested to sign the Notice of Constitutional Rights on behalf of the person who is mentally ill. An entry must be made in the Occurrence Book which contains the particulars of the appropriate adult and which reflects the fact that the appropriate adult signed on behalf of the said person.

(4) Blind, seriously visually handicapped or illiterate persons
If a person in custody is blind, seriously visually impaired or is unable to read and is thus illiterate, the community service centre commander must ensure that the person in custody’s legal practitioner, relative, an appropriate adult or some other person likely to take an interest in him or her (and not involved in the investigation) is available to help in checking any documentation. Wherever written consent or signification is required (for example the Notice of Constitutional Rights referred to in paragraph 6), the person assisting the person in custody, may, at the request of the person in custody, sign the required documentation.

(5) Refugees
If the person in custody is a refugee and a stateless person, but usually resides in a country other than the Republic of South Africa, he or she must, at his or her request, be assisted to communicate with the representative of such State.

(6) Persons under the influence of alcohol or any substance with a narcotic affect
(a) If a person in custody appears to be under the influence of alcohol or any substance with a narcotic affect and the community service centre commander is of the opinion that he or she is not able to understand the information which is contained in the Notice of Constitutional Rights, such Notice must not, at that stage, be issued to such person. An entry must be made in the Occurrence Book which reflects the fact that the person was not issued with the Notice of Constitutional Rights, as required in paragraph 6 and the reasons therefore.
(b) It however remains the responsibility of the community service centre commander to ensure that such a person is issued with the Notice of Constitutional Rights as soon as he or she is in a condition to understand the information contained in the said Notice. The procedure set out in paragraph 7 must strictly be adhered to and a further entry must be made in the Occurrence Book to reflect the fact that the person was issued with the Notice.

9. Right to communicate with a legal practitioner

(1) Right to communicate with a legal practitioner of choice

A person has a right to choose and consult with a legal practitioner, or, if substantial injustice would otherwise result, to have a legal practitioner assigned to him or her by the state and at state expense.

(a) Once a person in custody has received the Notice provided for in paragraph 6 above, the person must be asked whether he or she wishes to consult with a legal practitioner.

(b) If the person does not want to consult with a legal practitioner, an Occurrence Book entry must be made to this effect and the person should be requested to sign the entry. If the person refuses to sign the entry, any person who witnessed that he or she stated that he or she does not want to consult with a legal practitioner, must be requested to sign the entry specifying that the person in custody stated that he or she does not want to consult with a legal practitioner.

(c) If the person wishes to consult with a legal practitioner, a member must contact the legal practitioner. The member must inform the legal practitioner that the person in custody wishes to consult with him or her and that the telephone is situated in the community service centre and that the conversation may be overheard by members. The member must allow the person in custody to speak to the legal practitioner. An entry must be made in the Occurrence Book concerning this fact and the name of the legal practitioner must be mentioned in the entry. If the legal practitioner is not available, the member must inform the person in custody of this fact. The member must ask the person in custody whether he or she would like to contact another legal practitioner or whether he or she would like to contact the specific legal practitioner at a later stage. The entry in the Occurrence Book must reflect the fact that the legal practitioner was not available or could not be contacted, and the decision which was made by the person in custody.
Standing Order (General) 361

Handling of persons in the custody of the Service from arrival at the police station

(d) If a legal practitioner arrives at the police station, he or she must be allowed to consult in private with the person in custody. In such a situation, the member(s) guarding the person in custody, must ensure that he or she is out of hearing distance from the legal practitioner and the person in custody, but the person in custody must never be allowed out of his or her sight. The fact that the consultation had taken place must be recorded in an entry in the Occurrence Book.

(e) A reasonable request of a person in custody to be supplied with stationary in order to prepare his or her defence or to write letters to his or her legal practitioner in connection with his or her defence, must be complied with.

(2) Procedure to be followed regarding application to Legal Aid South Africa to be provided with a legal practitioner

(a) If the person in custody indicates that the or she wishes to have a legal practitioner appointed by the state to assist him or her, he or she must be assisted to do so. A station commander is responsible to liaise with the local representative of the Legal Aid South Africa (who is normally an official at the local magistrates’ court) and issue instructions on the procedure that must be followed at his or her station when a request of this nature is received from a person in custody.

(b) The steps taken in this regard in respect of a person in custody, must be recorded in an entry in the Occurrence Book. (With regard to more than one entry of this nature in the Custody Register, see Standing Order(G) 362).

(3) Limiting the right to communicate with a specific legal practitioner and the procedure which must be followed

(a) A person in custody has the right to communicate with a legal practitioner of his or her choice. He or she may therefore request to communicate with a particular legal practitioner.

(b) If a person in custody —
   (i) has not yet been charged with an offence; and
   (ii) it will, in the opinion of the investigating officer, not be in the interest of justice (as set out in subparagraph (c)) to allow such a person to communicate with that particular legal practitioner, he or she may be prevented from doing so, provided that the procedure, as set out below, is followed.
(c) If the investigating officer has reasonable grounds to believe that communication with a particular legal practitioner by the person in custody will —

(i) lead to interference or tampering with evidence connected with a serious offence or interference with or physical injury to other persons;

(ii) alert other persons suspected of having committed such an offence but who have not yet been arrested, of the arrest; or

(iii) hamper the recovery of property obtained as a result of such an offence, it will not be in the interest of justice to allow such person to communicate with that particular legal practitioner while this remains the case.

(d) The procedure referred to in subparagraph (3)(a) is as follows:

(i) the investigating officer must, in an affidavit, set out the facts on which his or her opinion is based;

(ii) the affidavit must be submitted to the station commander;

(iii) the station commander may, if he or she is satisfied that it is in the interest of justice, after having consulted with a legal administration officer attached to the Service, issue a written Notice in duplicate in the form set out below, specifying the time period, which may not exceed 12 hours, during which the person in custody is prohibited from communicating with that particular legal practitioner, as well as the reasons for issuing the Notice;

(iv) the original Notice must be filed in part B of the docket and a copy of the Notice must be served on the person in custody; and

(v) the Notice may only be issued by the station commander and this power may not be delegated to any other member at the station. Where a station commander is absent from his or her station, the acting station commander will be responsible to issue the Notice. A member in charge of the station after office hours is not an acting station commander and may therefore not issue this Notice.

(e) The issuing of such a Notice does not mean that the right of a person in custody to communicate with a legal practitioner may be completely denied during the period in question. Such person remains entitled to communicate with another legal practitioner during such period.
10. Communication with next of kin

A person in custody is entitled to communicate with and be visited by his or her spouse or partner and next of kin. The person in custody must therefore be requested to indicate whether or not he or she prefers to inform his or her spouse or partner and next of kin of his or her arrest. If an inquiry as to the whereabouts of a person in custody is made by his or her spouse or partner, next of kin or other person with an interest in his or her welfare, this information must be provided to such person. (Please refer to paragraph 12 regarding a person’s right to be visited by a chosen religious counsellor and the regulation thereof.)

(1) Procedure when person in custody prefers not to exercise this right

(a) If the person in custody prefers not to inform his or her spouse or partner and next of kin of the arrest, or indicates that he or she has no spouse or partner or next of kin, an entry into the Occurrence Book to this effect must be made and the person in custody must be requested to sign the entry to confirm its contents.

(b) If the person refuses to sign the entry referred to in subparagraph (a), any person who witnessed that he or she stated that he or she does not have a spouse or partner, or next of kin, or does not want to inform his or her spouse or partner, or next of kin, must be requested to sign the entry specifying that the person in custody stated the above.

(2) Procedure when person in custody prefers to exercise this right

(a) If the person prefers to inform his or her spouse or partner and next of kin, the person should be requested to provide a telephone number for this purpose. The member must make the telephone call and must inform the said spouse or partner and next of kin that the person is in custody, wishes to speak to him or her, that the telephone is situated in the community service centre and that the conversation may be overheard by members.

(b) The member must allow the person in custody to speak to the spouse or partner and next of kin. An entry in the Occurrence Book must be made. This entry must contain the telephone number that was phoned and the name of the person spoken to.

(c) If the person in custody is unable to provide a telephone number where his or her spouse or partner and next of kin may be reached, but requests that they be informed at a specific address, the community service centre commander must exercise his or her discretion on how to do this. Once the news has been conveyed, an entry into the Occurrence Book must be made in which this fact is mentioned and the name of the member that has conveyed the news, is recorded as well as the name of the person to whom the news was conveyed.

(d) If neither his or her spouse or partner or next of kin or his or her friends can reasonably be informed by telephone or in person, it must be done per SAPS 18 "Notification of Arrest" posted to the address provided by the person in custody. A copy of the SAPS 18 must be placed under Part B of the police docket.

(3) Limiting the right to communicate with his or her spouse or partner and next of kin

(a) A person in custody has the right to communicate with his or her spouse or partner and next of kin. However, if a person has not yet been charged with an offence, and it will, in the opinion of the investigating officer, not be in the interest of justice to allow such person to communicate with his or her spouse or partner or a particular person who is his or her next of kin, he or she may be prevented from doing so, provided that a Notice is issued in accordance with the procedure, as set out in paragraph 9(3)(d)(i) to (v).

(b) The issuing of such a notice does not mean that the right of a person in custody to communicate with his or her next of kin, may be totally denied during the period in question. Such person remains entitled to communicate with any other person, who is also one of his or her next of kin, during such period.

(4) Recording of steps taken to ensure communication with the spouse or partner and next of kin of a person in custody

(a) Every step taken regarding the exercise of the right of a person in custody to communicate with his or her spouse or partner and next of kin must be recorded in the Occurrence Book.

(b) In the event that more than one entry is made in the Occurrence Book with regard to the spouse or partner and next of kin of a particular person in custody all subsequent entries must be cross-linked. Only the first entry number must be recorded in the appropriate column in the Custody Register (see Standing Order(G) 362 for detailed instructions).
11. Searches of persons in custody and seizure of objects in their possession

(1) Searching a person in custody upon his or her arrival at the police station

(a) The community service centre commander is responsible —
   (i) to ascertain what property a person in custody has with him or her when he or she arrives at the police station;
   (ii) to ascertain what property a person in custody might have acquired for an unlawful or harmful purpose while he or she is in custody; and
   (iii) for the safekeeping of any property (for example cell phones, watches and jewellery) which is taken from a person in custody while such a person remains at the police station.

(b) In order to accomplish the above, the community service centre commander must search the person in custody or authorise that the person in custody be searched to the extent that the community service centre commander considers necessary, provided that an intimate search may only be conducted subject to the conditions set out in subparagraph (2). The particulars of the person conducting the search must be recorded in the Occurrence Book.

(c) A search of a person in custody must be conducted with strict regard to decency. A person may only be searched by a person of the same gender. If no member of the same gender is available, the search must be conducted by any person of the same gender designated for that purpose by a member.

(2) Intimate search

(a) An intimate search may only be authorised by a station commander if he or she has reasonable grounds to believe —
   (i) that a person in custody has concealed a dangerous weapon on his or her person;
   (ii) that such a person has concealed on his or her person an article which may afford evidence of the commission of an offence; or
   (iii) that such a person has concealed on his or her person an article which may be used in an attempt to effect an escape.
(b) An intimate search must be conducted by a registered medical practitioner or a registered nurse.

(3) Searching of a person in custody who is pregnant
(a) If a person in custody is pregnant, this fact must be reported to the community service centre commander who is responsible to ensure that an entry must be made to this effect in the Occurrence Book.

(b) If the services of a female member or a female warder, special matron or other suitable woman are available, the pregnant woman must be requested to hand over her property (especially valuable articles) and be warned that if she retains anything, she does so entirely at her own risk.

(4) Seizing of articles, including clothing
(a) Articles of clothing may only be seized if there are reasonable grounds to believe that —
   (i) the person in custody may use such articles to cause physical injury to himself or herself or any other person (for example his or her belt), damage property or assist him or her to escape; or
   (ii) they may afford evidence of the commission of an offence.

(b) The person in custody must be informed of the reason why anything is taken for safekeeping.

(c) When an article of clothing has been seized in terms of paragraph (a), the community service centre commander must ensure that the person in custody is issued with suitable replacement clothing.

(5) Searching of person in custody upon re-admission to a detention facility
(a) Whenever a person in custody is taken out of a detention facility for exercise, to attend court or for any other purpose, he or she must be carefully searched before being re-admitted to the detention facility.

(b) Exceptional care must be taken to ensure that no poison, intoxicating liquor, drugs, weapons or other instruments are secretly passed to a person in custody or smuggled into his or her cell (for example blankets that may have been folded up outside must be shaken out, food supplied must be examined, etc.).

(c) Any article, for example food or clothing, given to a person in custody by a visitor, must be searched.

12. Regulating visits to a person in custody

(1) Determining and regulating visiting hours

(a) The station commander is responsible to determine a reasonable time period during which persons in custody at his or her station may be visited and he or she must issue instructions to facilitate visits of this nature.

(b) The station commander is responsible to ensure that a clearly visible notice, setting out the visiting hours as determined by him or her, is displayed at the community service centre of his or her police station.

(c) The name and address of every visitor must be recorded in the Occurrence Book or in a special visitors' book (where such book is kept). This includes the particulars of the religious counsellor which visits the person in custody. The first entry in the Occurrence Book or, where applicable, the special visitor’s book, must be recorded in the appropriate column of the SAPS 14. Any subsequent entries should be cross-linked in the Occurrence Book or, where applicable, the special visitor’s book.

(2) Searching of visitors

(a) Every person who visits the person in custody must be requested whether he or she would consent to a body search before he or she is allowed to visit a person in custody. If such person refuses to give consent to the search, such person must be informed that he or she will not be allowed to visit the person in custody unless he or she consents to such a search. (Ambassadors, Consulate-Generals, diplomatic agents and consular officials, enjoying diplomatic immunity in the Republic, are exempted from this requirement and may not be searched.)

(b) A search of a visitor must be conducted with strict regard to decency. A person may only be searched by a person of the same gender. If no member of the same gender is available, the search must be conducted by any person of the same gender designated by a member for that purpose.
(c) Any article, for example food or clothing, given to a person in custody by a visitor, must be searched.

13. Safe custody and handling of persons in custody

(1) Separation of categories

(a) Persons in custody arrested on the same charge or involved in the same case, must, if this is considered necessary in the interest of justice, be confined in separate cells and not be allowed to communicate with each other.

(b) Males and females are never to be detained in the same cell and, as far as possible, they are to be prevented from seeing or conversing with each other.

(c) If circumstances permit, sentenced offenders and persons in custody awaiting trial must be confined separately.

(d) A child offender may only be detained if this is permitted in terms of the National Instruction on Children in Conflict with the Law (National Instruction 2 of 2010): Provided that the provisions of that Instructions are strictly adhered to.

(e) A mentally ill or mentally handicapped person, must, when possible, be detained separately to ensure the safety of such person and other persons in custody.

(f) A disabled person must, if reasonably possible, be detained separately to ensure the safety of such person.

(g) Whenever reasonably possible, persons in custody who are alleged to have committed violent crimes, must be detained separately from other persons in custody.

(2) Conditions of detention regarding accommodation in detention facilities

(a) The station commander must ensure that the number of persons who are accommodated in a detention facility is reasonable in relation to the size thereof (to assist a station commander in this regard, 2.33 m² per person may be used as a guideline). Where more persons have to be detained in a detention facility, the station commander must issue station orders on suitable alternative accommodation for all additional persons, such as an office or the detention facilities of a neighbouring station.
Standing Order (General) 361

Handling of persons in the custody of the Service from arrival at the police station

person in custody may not be detained in a police vehicle as an alternative to accommodation in detention facilities.

(b) A station commander must ensure that all detention facilities have adequate light and ventilation.

(c) Detention facilities must be equipped with reasonable means of rest such as a chair or bench, and a person in custody, who is kept in custody overnight, must be provided with a cell mat or mattress and blankets of a reasonable standard. The station commander must make the necessary arrangements to ensure that the cell mats or mattresses and blankets are in good order when issued and changed often enough to ensure its cleanliness.

(d) The cells and their surroundings must at all times be kept clean and sanitary, and the doors and windows of cells that are unoccupied must be left wide open at all times, weather permitting.

(e) Blankets, mats and other bedding must be taken out early each morning during fine weather, and be thoroughly aired. Folded articles must be opened up and inspected closely before being returned to the cells.

(f) Persons in custody who are awaiting trial are required to perform such duties as may be necessary to maintain the good order and cleanliness of any cell, room or other place occupied by them and of any premises adjoining or in any way subserving that cell, room or place, or the occupants thereof or of any articles or objects of similar use, and may be permitted to perform other labour. (See section 9(1) and (2) of the Correctional Services Act, 1998 (Act No. 111 of 1998)).

(3) Conditions of detention regarding toilet-, washing- and exercise facilities

(a) A person in custody must be allowed to use toilet facilities and be offered adequate washing facilities (which includes both hot and cold water).

(b) Where detention facilities are not equipped with flush toilets, the station commander must issue station orders to the effect that containers must be emptied with regular intervals and that toilet paper be kept in constant supply.

(c) If running water is not available often enough, arrangements may be made by the station commander to be able to heat water and provide this to persons in custody together with wash basins.

(d) The use of razors is not to be allowed, unless shaving takes place under strict supervision.

(e) Open air exercise must be offered daily whenever possible.

(4) Reporting of defects regarding detention facilities

(a) Detention facilities must, for the safekeeping of persons in custody, be maintained in a secure condition and any defect must be reported without delay to the relevant provincial office of Supply Chain Management, with a view to it being repaired. When not in use, the keys of detention facilities must be kept in a safe place in the community service centre or other designated place.

(b) If the conditions set out in subparagraphs (3) and (4) cannot be met, the station commander must, as a matter of urgency, follow the procedures regarding the upgrading of the detention facilities at his or her station in accordance with the prescripts relating to Supply Chain Management. The station commander must keep a written progress report setting out the progress made and the reasons for any delay. For purposes of the written report it is important to note that a station commander does not only have a responsibility to report such defects in the conditions mentioned above, but has a further responsibility to monitor and pursue such progress to the best of his or her ability.

(5) Reading material

(a) It is the responsibility of the station commander to issue instructions on the manner in which reading material must be obtained for usage by persons in custody. Community based organisations may be approached for assistance in this regard.

(b) It is the responsibility of the community service centre commander to ensure that the age limit on reading material, if any, are strictly complied with.
Standing Order (General) 361

Handling of persons in the custody of the Service from arrival at the police station

(c) A person in custody may be allowed to obtain reading material from relatives, friends or any other source, at his or her own expense.

(d) The community service centre commander must ensure that a person in custody does not abuse reading material. Whenever it comes to the attention of the community service centre commander that reading material is being misused, such reading material must immediately be withdrawn for a period which he or she deems fit.

(6) Visiting of cells

(a) At a station where there is a 24 hours-per-day community service centre commander, persons in custody are to be visited as follows:

(i) an ordinary person in custody - at least every hour;

(ii) a person in custody under restraint - at least every hour and the restraining measure must be lifted as soon as his or her condition or behaviour justifies it; and

(iii) a person in custody insensible from liquor or another cause - at least every half-hour until he or she has recovered consciousness. He or she must be roused on each visit unless he or she is breathing regularly.

During the visit to the cells the night rest of persons in custody may not unnecessarily be disturbed.

(b) Under no circumstances, except in extreme cases, may a member unlock the door of a cell or area in which persons in custody are detained or enter that specific cell or area, unless a second member is present. The member who enters the specific cell or area must be unarmed, but the second member keeping guard outside, must be armed. The community service centre commander must ensure that the member who makes the visits is accompanied by another member to avoid the danger of escaping or violence.

(c) If a 24-hour per day community service centre does not exist, the station commander must, taking into consideration the safe detention of persons in custody, make suitable arrangements for visits to the cells. Cell visits to persons in custody as mentioned in paragraphs (a) and (b) above, must proceed after the station has been closed.

(d) Visits to female persons in custody, where a female member is not available, must be made by a female warder, special matron or other suitable woman, accompanied by a male member. If, however, such a female is not be available, the male member visiting the cells must always be accompanied by another member.

(e) Every visit to the cells must be recorded in the Occurrence Book and any matter calling for attention must be duly recorded.

(f) If a person in custody complains that he or she has been tortured, the station commander must either himself or herself conduct a thorough investigation into the matter or instruct another experienced member to do so. If the investigation reveals that an offence has been committed, a case docket must be opened. If the investigation reveals that a member has committed misconduct, disciplinary measures must be instituted against such member.

(g) Unauthorised persons are never to be allowed entry into detention facilities.

(7) Restraining measures
Regarding the use of restraining measures on a person in custody while such person is being detained in a detention facility, refer to Standing Order(G) 350.

(8) Clothing
(a) If it is necessary to remove the clothes of a person in custody for the purposes of safety, investigation, hygiene, health or cleaning, replacement clothing of a reasonable standard of comfort and cleanliness must, where reasonably possible, be provided. A person in custody may not be questioned unless adequate clothing has been offered to him or her.

(b) The clothing of every person who is in custody for more than seven days, must be washed and ironed once a week at the cost of the Service. At a place where such washing can be done by the prison, this service must be requisitioned from the local prison authority. If the prison cannot undertake the service, existing state contracts must be made use of and in the absence of the latter, the most economical arrangements must be made and the expenditure involved reported to the Provincial and National Head Office.

Handling of persons in the custody of the Service from arrival at the police station

(c) A person in custody who is inadequately or improperly dressed to appear in public or in court, may be provided at State expense with the most essential articles of clothing to enable him or her to be dressed properly and adequately when having to appear in public or in court.

(9) Drinking water and food

(a) A person in custody must have ready access to drinking water and be provided with nutritious food three times per day. The meal times are as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Meal</th>
<th>Time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Breakfast</td>
<td>Between 06:00 and 08:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lunch</td>
<td>Between 12:00 and 14:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dinner</td>
<td>Between 17:00 and 19:00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

(b) After each provision of meals, an appropriate entry must be made in the Occurrence Book, reflecting the time of such meal. If it be necessary to again provide meals to other persons in custody during the prescribed times, a further similar entry must be made in the Occurrence Book.

(c) Persons in custody admitted to the cells after the prescribed mealtime, may not be given a meal, unless they have not had anything to eat for some considerable time, and it would be inhuman or unreasonable to expect them to wait until the next mealtime. An appropriate Occurrence Book entry must likewise be made in such a case.

(d) If meals have been supplied at irregular hours, or if a person in custody has not received food during a particular meal time for any reason, an entry to this effect must be made in the Occurrence Book. The entry number must be recorded in the appropriate column of the Custody Register.

(e) Meals to persons in custody are supplied by —

(i) the State; or

(ii) in the absence of the necessary cooking or storage facilities, a police mess, sport or tea club, or any other similar semi-official institution; or

(iii) a private concern.
Standing Order (General) 361 Handling of persons in the custody of the Service from arrival at the police station

(f) If meals are, owing to special circumstances, supplied by the station commander, full particulars must be submitted to Head Office for approval.

(g) A supply of Epsom salts must be kept at hand for use, at their request, by persons in custody.

(h) The meals which are provided to a person in custody must, —
   (i) where reasonably practicable, take into account the religious requirements and cultural preferences of such a person;
   (ii) take into account the dietary requirements relating to the medical condition, such as diabetes, of such a person; and
   (iii) adhere to the requirements for meals and the menu for detainees as determined by National Head Office.

(i) If the person in custody is a breastfeeding mother, she must be allowed to breastfeed her infant. If she is not able to breastfeed her infant, a suitable breast milk substitute must be prescribed by a medical practitioner and supplied to the mother (the smallest possible quantity must be obtained to cater for the period she is being detained in custody).

(j) A person in custody may be allowed to obtain food (excluding liquor or drugs) from relatives or friends or any other source at his or her own expense during the specified meal times.

(10) General
   (a) To ensure the safety of all persons in the custody of the Service, a person who is detained in a detention facility, may not be allowed to smoke in such a detention facility. Such a person must however be given the opportunity to smoke in the exercise blocks whenever reasonably possible.

   (b) All persons in the custody of the Service must be given the opportunity to exercise when necessary and possible and the appropriate measures must be in place to prevent them from escaping.

   (c) If a person in custody is insensible from liquor or other causes, he or she must have his or her throat laid bare and must have his or her head raised when laying down.
14. Guarding in hospitals

(1) In order to ensure the safe custody of a person in custody in a hospital, treatment centre or any other medical facility, the relevant station commander must see to it that the respective roles and responsibilities are clearly defined and stated in the job descriptions and Performance Enhancement Process documents of the members performing the transportation, guarding and escort duties of persons in custody. These instructions must fall within the ambit of existing rules, regulations and the policy of each hospital or medical facility where a person in custody is to be guarded and must prevent a person in custody from escaping.

(2) If a person in custody has to proceed from one place to another in a hospital or treatment centre, (eg to the theatre or the toilet), the member who performs the guarding must accompany such a person in custody as far as it is practicably possible and ensure that the person cannot escape.

(3) The member guarding the person in custody must strictly comply with instructions as set out in their job descriptions and do everything in their power to ensure the safe custody of the person in custody by means of utilization of the required restraining measures.

15. Arrested person to be brought before a court as soon as reasonably possible (48-hours rule)

(1) If the arrested person is not released —

(a) by reason that no charge is to be brought against him or her;

(b) on warning in lieu of bail; or

(c) on bail, such person must be brought before a lower court as soon as reasonably possible, but not later than 48-hours after the arrest. (See section 50(1) of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 (Act No. 51 of 1977) and subparagraph (2)).

(2) In terms of section 35(1)(d) of the Constitution, 1996 (Act No. 108 of 1996) a person who is arrested for allegedly committing an offence has the right to be brought before a court as soon as reasonably possible, but not later than —

(a) 48 hours after the arrest; or

(b) the end of the first court day after the expiry of the 48 hours, if the 48 hours expire outside ordinary court hours or on a day which is not an ordinary court day.
(3) If the 48-hours expire on a non-court-day, the accused must be taken to court before the end of the first court day thereafter. If the accused is however in transit from outside the jurisdiction of the court to within the jurisdiction, the 48-hours expire on the court day succeeding the day on which he or she came into the area of the jurisdiction of the court.

(4) Once a person in custody arrives at the court cells he or she should be searched by the member in charge of that cells before his or her admission into the court cells and before he or she is released from the court cells into the custody of a member responsible to transport the person to another place of detention.

16. Disciplinary measures

(1) All the rights of a person in custody are subject to the limitation that a person in custody must submit to the disciplinary regulations applicable to persons in custody who are remand detainees.

(2) Any disciplinary action taken against a person in custody must be recorded in the Occurrence Book by the community service centre commander.

17. General

(1) The member in charge of a case must always be in a position to inform the court of the amount of money (if any) which he or she may have found in the possession of a person in custody, in case the court may consider it expedient to make an order under sections 289, 300 or 301 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 (Act No. 51 of 1977), which authorises the court to impose compensatory fines.

(2) If a person in custody requests to have another person warned to attend court as a witness on his or her behalf, and furnishes the names and addresses of the witnesses, the request must be acceded to. Any person informed of such request, shall simply be told that the person in custody wishes him or her to give evidence on his or her behalf, and that he or she must hold the person in custody responsible for his or her expenses. (See also section 179(3) of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 (Act No. 51 of 1977)).

(3) Every member who serves an indictment or summons on an accused to appear in a circuit court, must enquire from him or her whether he or she desires to call any witnesses at his or her trial in his or her defence, and thereafter record the names and addresses of such witnesses, if any, upon the original indictment or summons in order that the matter may be brought to the notice of the clerk of the magistrate's court dealing therewith. (See Standing Order(G) 307.)

(4) If a person in custody wishes to dispose of his or her property for the purpose of raising bail or paying a fine, he or she must be provided every opportunity to do so, but a member is not allowed to purchase such property, directly or indirectly.

(5) A newspaper reporter is not permitted to interview a person in custody or to remain within sight or hearing of any interview between a person in custody and his or her visitors, should any information be given to him or her by the Service concerning persons in custody.

(6) Trading between a person in custody and a member, in any manner or form, is strictly forbidden, as is also the payment by a member of a person in custody's fine in order to hire or engage his or her services.

18. Arrest by a private person

(1) If a person has been arrested by a private person in terms of section 42(1) of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 (Act No. 51 of 1977), the Community Service Centre Commander must ensure that a statement is taken from the person who made the arrest, setting out the reasons for the arrest.

(2) The Community Service Centre Commander must ensure that the arrest is recorded in the Occurrence Book as required by Standing Order(G) 303.

(3) This entry must contain the following —
   (a) the name, identification number, address and contact numbers of the person who arrested the person;
   (b) the name of the arrested person;
   (c) the reason for the arrest (including, if already available at this stage, the CR/CAS number); and
   (d) whether the arrested person has any visible injuries or is, in the opinion of the community service centre commander, sick or under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any other substance with a narcotic effect.

(4) The Community Service Centre Commander must determine whether the arrested person must be detained or be released —
(a) by reason that no charge is to be brought against him or her;
(b) on warning in lieu of bail; or
(c) on bail.

(5) If the Community Service Centre Commander decides to detain the arrested person, the person must be dealt with in accordance with this Instruction.
STANDING ORDER (GENERAL) 362

(2) Every action, as required in this Order, that is taken by a member...

(3) The station commander, or a person designated by him or her for that purpose, must inspect the Custody Register or the SAPS 22 and Occurrence Book daily to ensure that the provisions of this Order are complied with.

4. Particulars of persons in custody to be entered into the Custody Register

The instructions, which must be strictly complied with regarding the recording of particulars in the Custody Register, are printed in the front of the Custody Register. In addition to the instructions, the following instructions regarding the completion of the register must also be complied with:

(a) Suspect

(i) If a person is arrested and detained as a suspect, the date, time and reason for his or her arrest (for example, “theft”) must be recorded in black ink in the appropriate columns under the heading “Arrest”. The CR/CAS number must only be entered when it is a direct arrest or when the person is detained on a warrant (if available), and when the person is charged. If a suspect is detained, the column must be left blank, until he or she is charged. When a person is detained as a suspect, the station and CR/CAS number must be recorded in red ink in the remarks column.

(ii) If the suspect is charged, the date on and time at which the suspect is charged, and the entry number in the Occurrence Book must be entered in black ink in the appropriate columns under the heading “Suspect charged”. If the suspect cannot be charged due to any valid reason such as hospitalisation, a letter from the medical doctor must be obtained in order to be placed as an exhibit in the docket under part “A” in order to allow the Prosecuting Authority to extend the 48 hour period in which the suspect should have been charged.

(iii) If a child needs to be detained, the entry in the Custody Register must be made in red ink and any aliases of the child must be recorded in the remarks column of the Custody Register. (See Standing Orders 345 and 349).

(b) Prisoner’s property (SAPS 22)

If a person who is taken into custody is not issued with a SAPS 22 form, the word “nil” must be entered in the appropriate column in the Custody Register under the heading “Detained”, opposite the name of the suspect who is taken into custody.

(c) Discharge

(i) If a person is discharged (released) from custody, the date, time and reason for discharge are entered in the appropriate columns in the Custody Register under the heading “Discharge”. Abbreviations may be used. The reason for discharge must be of such a nature that no doubt could exist as to the reason why the specific detainee was released or the destination he or she was transferred to.
(ii) If bail was deposited or the accused is discharged (released) on a written warning or notice to appear in court, the receipt number of the J 398, or the serial number of the J 399, SAPS 496 or J 534 is entered in the column: "Reason for discharge".

(iii) Once a person who was taken into custody has been discharged (released) by reason of him or her paying his or her fine, the words "FINE PAID" must be entered as the reason for discharge column. The serial number of the receipt that is issued (Z 263A) must also be entered in the "Reason for discharge" column.

(d) Hospitalization

(i) If a person in custody is admitted to a hospital or another institution for treatment, he or she is not booked out in the Custody Register. In such a situation, an entry (including the date on and time at which the person is admitted to the hospital or other treatment institution, and the name of the hospital or other treatment institution) must be made in the Occurrence Book. The Occurrence Book entry must be reflected in the "Medical particulars" column. (See Standing Order (G) 349 for instructions regarding the medical treatment and hospitalization of a person who is in custody.)

(ii) If the person in custody returns from the hospital or other treatment institution, an entry must be made in the Occurrence Book. The entry in the Occurrence Book must be cross-linked with the first entry in the Occurrence Book that relates to the medical particulars of the person who is in custody. (See paragraph 5 (d) (i)).

3. Treatment of children
   (1) Background
      (a) Children are different from adults and do not have the same knowledge, experience and insight normally expected from an adult. A child should therefore be treated differently from an adult. Accordingly, a child, who is suspected of having committed an offence, should be treated differently from an adult suspected of having committed the same offence.

      (b) Children are impressionable and prone to be influenced by the conduct of adults. Children are more likely to follow the example set by adults rather than to do what adults tell them to do. Children exposed to criminal activity by adults are, accordingly, themselves likely to get involved in criminal activity. This is because, generally speaking, children yearn to be adults and would like to be treated like adults. Accordingly, if they see adults committing offences, they want to prove to the world that they are adults by also committing offences.

      (c) If a child is suspected of having committed an offence, the first contact between the child and an official from the Criminal Justice System (normally a member) is critical. The manner in which that official (member) treats the child may play a decisive role in persuading the child to change his or her ways and refrain from further involvement in criminal activities or push him or her to become further and deeper involved in criminal activities. This applies even though a child may have committed a heinous crime and may have been acutely aware at the time that what he or she was doing was wrong and that it constituted a crime.

      (d) A member who confronts a child who is suspected of having committed an offence, must bear the foregoing in mind when he or she considers how to deal with the child.

      (e) A member must always treat a child in a manner which is in the best interest of the child as set out in paragraph 2(3) of the National Instruction on the Care and Protection of Children in terms of the Children's Act

   (2) Treatment of a child suspected of having committed an offence
      (a) During the first contact with a child suspected of having committed an offence, the member must, if circumstances permit, introduce himself or herself to the child and, if a parent, guardian or an appropriate adult is present, to such person.

      (b) The member must explain to the child that he or she is being suspected of having committed the offence. The member must explain this to the child in a language that he or she understands, preferably in the mother tongue of the child, using plain and simple vocabulary to assist the child to have a better understanding of the child justice system and the procedure that will be followed in his or her case. The child must understand that this is a very serious matter.

(c) The member must realise that the child may be overwhelmed and scared in the presence of the Police and must therefore patiently explain the nature of the offence and the procedure that will be followed in his or her case. The member must give enough detail about the matters and allow sufficient time so that the child can absorb the information. The member must encourage the child to ask questions and respond to the questions and satisfy himself or herself that the child understands the information and explanation given. The member may elicit responses from the child by asking questions in order to ensure that he or she understands the information.

(d) A member must not humiliate or intimidate a child and must at all times treat and communicate with the child in a manner which is appropriate to the age, maturity and stage of development of the child. The younger the child, the more patient and understanding the member must be while communicating with the child. The level of schooling of the child and the child's ability to read and write are also relevant when considering what would be an appropriate manner in which to treat and communicate with the child.

(e) The member must take steps to protect the privacy and dignity of the child and must ensure that discussions with the child and his or her parent or guardian or an appropriate adult (whether at the police station or at the crime scene) take place in private, out of sight and hearing of other persons.

(f) A member who explains to a child and his or her parent, guardian or an appropriate adult, the contents of a notice or procedure must take into account the background of the child, the parent, guardian or appropriate adult and the fact that they may not be conversant with the functioning of the courts and court procedures. The member must explain the contents of the notice or procedure in simple, understandable language and give sufficient details to the child and parent, guardian or appropriate adult. The member must also encourage the child, parent, guardian or appropriate adult to ask questions without interrupting him or her.
(3) Language of communication
(a) A child, parent, guardian or appropriate adult must be addressed in a language that they understand, preferably the language of their choice, using plain and simple vocabulary.

(b) If a member —
(i) is unable to establish what language the child and parent, guardian or appropriate adult understands; or
(ii) cannot speak the language that the child and parent, guardian or appropriate adult understands, the member must explain the information in English.

(c) In the event that the child and parent, guardian or appropriate adult do not understand English, the member must inform the Community Service Centre Commander accordingly. The Community Service Centre Commander must determine what language the child and parent, guardian or appropriate adult understands and ensure that the information is conveyed in that language.

(d) In the event that the child and parent, guardian or appropriate adult do not understand English, the Community Service Centre Commander must make an entry in the Occurrence Book (OB) setting out the steps taken to ensure that the information is conveyed in a language that is understood by the child and parent, guardian or appropriate adult.

(4) Arrest and detention of children
(a) A child should only be arrested as a last resort and, if arrested, should only be detained for the shortest possible time.

(b) A member, who is authorised to arrest a child in terms of the Act and this Instruction, may decide not to arrest the child, but rather to have the investigation completed and the docket referred to the prosecutor to decide whether the child should be prosecuted or not, and if so, to have a summons issued to secure the attendance of the child at a preliminary inquiry.

(c) In considering whether the child should be arrested or whether the investigation should be completed and the docket referred to the prosecutor to decide whether the child should be prosecuted and to have a summons issued, a member may consider any information that may be contained in the Diversion Register. The Diversion Register is maintained by the Department of Social Development and contains information of children’s criminal cases that have been diverted. This information may assist the member to decide whether it would be appropriate in the circumstances, bearing in mind the information obtained from the Diversion Register, to arrest the child or to rather follow the summons route.
(d) A member must ensure that —

(i) a child is detained separately from adults and boys separately from girls;

(ii) a child is detained in conditions which take into account his or her particular vulnerability and which will reduce the risk of harm to the child, including the risk of harm emanating from other children;

(iii) the child may be visited by parents, appropriate adults, guardians, legal representatives, registered social workers, probation officers, assistant probation officers, health workers, religious counsellors and any other person who, in terms of any law, is entitled to visit the child, and

(iv) the child is cared for in a manner consistent with the special needs of children, including the provision of —

(a) immediate and appropriate health care in the event of any illness, injury or severe psychological trauma in accordance with the procedure set out in Standing Order (General) 348;

(bb) adequate food, water, blankets, bedding; and

(cc) sanitary towels (if required by girl children).

(2) The Divisional Commissioner: Visible Policing must compile a list containing the information referred to in subparagraph (1) in respect of each province and provide every Provincial Commissioner with a copy of the list relating to his or her province.

(3) A Provincial Commissioner must provide a copy of the list to every station commander in his or her province.

(4) Every station commander must ensure that the information received from the Provincial Commissioner referred to in subparagraph (3), is at all times available in the community service centre of his or her station and is updated as new information is received from the Provincial Commissioner.
Every station commander must liaise with the designated probation officer, and, if another probation officer is designated, the newly designated probation officer, to reach agreement on—

(a) how he or she should be notified of the arrest of a child or be provided with a copy of an Information Notice or Written Notice issued to or in respect of a child (ie by handing over a copy of the Notice, or by faxing it to a particular number and telephonically notifying the designated probation officer of the fax); and

(b) the procedure to be followed in the event of a member being unable to establish contact with the designated probation officer to notify him or her or provide a copy of a Notice as set out in subparagraph (a) to him or her.

The station commander must set out the information agreed upon with the designated probation officer as contemplated in subparagraph (5) in writing.

The station commander must ensure that a copy of—

(a) the Act;
(b) the Regulations promulgated in terms thereof;
(c) this National Instruction;
(d) the station orders issued by him or her in terms of subparagraph (8); and
(e) a document containing the information referred to in subparagraph (6);

are at all times available in the Community Service Centre.

The station commander must, taking into account the unique circumstances prevailing in his or her specific station area, the agreement reached with the designated probation officer, the available resources, etc., issue station orders—

(a) requiring a member under his or her command to follow the approach agreed upon as contemplated in subparagraph (6); and
(b) in general, instructing members under his or her command on any other matter relating to the treatment of children in conflict with the law which he or she deems necessary to determine in respect of his or her specific station area.

Where a police station area forms part of a larger area consisting of more than one police station area and a radio control unit has been established to patrol and attend to complaints in such larger area, every station commander of a station in such larger area must, for information purposes, provide the commander of such radio control unit with a copy of the station orders issued in accordance with subparagraph (8) and, if he or she amends the orders, a copy of the updated version thereof.

The station commander must see to it that all functional members at his or her station receive in-service training (also at station meetings) on the
5. Criminal offences reported to the Police

(1) If a member of the public reports the alleged commission of an offence to a police official, the member of the public will normally not know who had allegedly committed the offence. In such a case, the police official must take an affidavit, open a docket and have it registered on the CAS. The same applies if the member of the public suspects that the offence was committed by a particular person whose age is unknown to the member of the public, but he or she believes that person to be an adult or at least older than 10 years.

(2) The detective designated as the investigating officer must, if he or she establishes, during the course of the investigation of the offence, that the person who had allegedly committed the offence, is a child, deal with the child in accordance with this Instruction.

(3) If a member of the public reports the alleged commission of an offence to a police official and the member of the public knows that the person who had allegedly committed the offence, is younger than 10 years and acted alone (i.e., was not used by an adult to commit the offence), the member of the public must be informed that a child below the age of 10 years lacks criminal capacity and cannot be arrested, prosecuted or convicted of an offence. In such a case, the member must —

(a) take the particulars of the person reporting the alleged commission of the offence as well as the particulars of the alleged offence;

(b) determine from the member of the public how he or she knows that the child who had allegedly committed the offence is younger than 10 years and acted alone (was not used by an adult to commit the alleged offence);

(c) determine from the member of the public, the particulars of the child (name and residential address), as well as any information that the member of the public may have that will assist in determining whether the child is a child in need of care and protection and in need of immediate emergency protection as set out in the National Instruction on the Care and Protection of Children;

(d) make a comprehensive entry in the Occurrence Book (OB) setting out the particulars of the alleged offence, the person who reported it and the information referred to in subparagraph (c) that was provided by the member of the public; and

(e) provide the member of the public with the reference number of the OB entry.

(4) The Community Service Centre Commander must satisfy himself or herself that the incident that was reported by the member of the public did in fact occur, that the child is likely to have been responsible for the
6. Conduct of a member at a crime scene

(1) If a member—
(a) is present while an offence is being committed; or
(b) arrives at the scene after the commission of the offence and while the perpetrator is still at the crime scene, the member must do whatever may be reasonably necessary to ensure the safety of any person at the crime scene, to stop the alleged perpetrator of the offence and to secure the crime scene, irrespective of the age of the person who has allegedly committed the offence.

(2) If the person who is alleged to have committed the offence is, according to the knowledge of the member, a child of a particular age, the member must deal with the child in accordance with this Instruction insofar as it relates to a child of that age that has allegedly committed such an offence.

(3) If the member is uncertain whether the person who allegedly committed the offence, is an adult or a child and, if a child, what the age of the child is, the member must gather any information which may be available at the crime scene which will satisfy him or her that the person is a child or an adult and, if a child, what the age of the child is. Such information may include information that may be available from witnesses or other persons (such as a parent or friend of the child) that may be present at the crime scene or any documentation (such as a birth certificate, an identity document or driver’s licence).

(4) If the member is satisfied that the person who allegedly committed the offence, is an adult, this Instruction will not be applicable.

(5) If the member is satisfied that the person who allegedly committed the offence, is a child of a certain age, the member must deal with the child in accordance with this Instruction insofar as it relates to a child of that age.

(6) If the member is satisfied that the person who allegedly committed the offence, is a child, but he or she remains uncertain about how old the child really is, the member must consider the youngest age that the child may possibly be and deal with the child in accordance with this Instruction insofar as it relates to a child of that age.
7. Dealing with a child younger than 10 years who is alleged to have committed any offence

(1) If a member suspects that a child has committed an offence but that the child is younger than 10 years, the member MUST NOT arrest the child.

(2) If the parent or guardian of the child is present, the member must —

(a) if a SAPS 583(a) (Information Notice to person to whom a child younger than 10 years is handed) is available at the scene, —
   (i) complete the information notice and explain to the parent or guardian the contents of the notice;
   (ii) hand the original Information Notice to the parent or guardian and request the parent or guardian to sign on the first duplicate original Information Notice to acknowledge receipt of the Notice;
   (iii) hand over the child to the parent or guardian; and
   (iv) provide the first duplicate original Information Notice to the designated probation officer and retain proof that the Information Notice was received by the designated probation officer;

(b) if a SAPS 583(a) (Information Notice to person to whom a child younger than 10 years is handed) is not available at the scene, but the parent or guardian of the child is willing and able to bring the child to the police station, arrange with the parent or guardian of the child to bring the child to the police station and act in accordance with subparagraph (a)(i)-(iv);

(c) if a SAPS 583(a) (Information Notice to person to whom a child younger than 10 years is handed) is not available at the scene and the parent or guardian of the child is not willing or able to bring the child to the police station, but arrangements can be made for an information notice to be brought to the scene, arrange for the information notice to be brought to the scene and keep the child and the parent or guardian until the information notice arrives at the scene, where after the member must act in accordance with subparagraph (a)(i)-(iv);

(d) if a SAPS 583(a) (Information Notice to person to whom a child younger than 10 years is handed) is not available at the scene and —
   (aa) the parent or guardian of the child is not willing or able to bring the child to the police station; and
   (bb) arrangements cannot be made for an Information Notice to be brought to the scene within a reasonable time, take the child and the parent or guardian to the police station and act in accordance with subparagraph (a)(i)-(iv);

8. Dealing with a child who is 10 years or older and who is alleged to have committed an offence referred to in Schedule 1 of the Act

(1) If a member suspects that a child, who is 10 years or older, has committed an offence, the member must satisfy himself or herself whether the offence is an offence referred to in Schedule 1 of the Act (attached hereto as Annexure A).

(2) If the offence concerned is an offence referred to in Schedule 1 of the Act, the member MUST NOT arrest the child UNLESS there are COMPPELLING REASONS JUSTIFYING THE ARREST OF THE CHILD as outlined in paragraph (3).

(3) Compelling reasons that will justify the arrest of a child who is 10 years or older in respect of an offence referred to in Schedule 1 are —
   (a) where the member has reason to believe that the child —
      (i) does not have a fixed residential address;
9. Dealing with a child who is 10 years or older and who is alleged to have committed an offence referred to in Schedule 1 of the Act if there are no compelling reason to arrest the child

(1) If there are no compelling reason to arrest the child who is 10 years or older and who is alleged to have committed an offence referred to in Schedule 1 of the Act, the member may not arrest the child.

(2) If the parent or guardian of the child is present, the member must —

(a) if a SAPS 583(b) (Written Notice to Appear at a Preliminary Inquiry) is available at the scene, —
   (i) complete the Written Notice and set the date of the preliminary inquiry to be the fifth (5th) working day after the date of the issuing of the Written Notice;
   (ii) explain to the child and the parent or guardian the contents of the Written Notice;
   (iii) hand the original Written Notice to the child and request the child and the parent or guardian to sign on the first duplicate original Written Notice to acknowledge receipt of the notice;
   (iv) hand over the child to the parent or guardian;
   (v) provide the first duplicate original Written Notice to the designated probation officer within 24 hours after the Written Notice was handed to the child and retain proof that it was received by the designated probation officer, and
   (vi) make a copy of the Written Notice and file the copy under “B” in the docket opened in respect of the offence which the child is alleged to have committed;

(b) if a SAPS 583(b) (Written Notice to Appear at a Preliminary Inquiry) is not available at the scene, but the parent or guardian of the child is willing and able to bring the child to the police station, arrange with the parent or guardian of the child to bring the child to the police station and act in accordance with subparagraph (a)(i)-(vii);

(c) if a SAPS 583(b) (Written Notice to Appear at a Preliminary Inquiry) is not available at the scene and the parent or guardian of

(d) if a SAPS 582(b) (Written Notice to Appear at a Preliminary Inquiry) is not available at the scene and —

(aa) the parent or guardian of the child is not willing or able to bring the child to the police station; and

take the child and the parent or guardian to the police station and act in accordance with subparagraph (a)(i)-(vi).

(3) If the parent or guardian of the child is not present, the member must establish whether an appropriate adult is present and, if so, apply the provisions of paragraph (2) (replacing "parent or guardian" with "appropriate adult").

(4) If the parent or guardian of the child or an appropriate adult is not present, the member must take such steps as may be reasonable in the circumstances to contact the parent or guardian of the child or an appropriate adult and —

(a) if successful, request the parent or guardian of the child or the appropriate adult to collect the child from the police station. When the parent or guardian of the child or the appropriate adult collects the child, the member must act in accordance with subparagraph (2)(a)(i)-(vi); or

(b) if unsuccessful, the child must be regarded as a child in need of care and protection and in need of immediate emergency protection and must be dealt with in accordance with paragraphs 10 and 11 of the National Instruction on the Care and Protection of Children in terms of the Children’s Act. In such a case, the person with whom the child is placed in temporary safe care, (such as the person in charge of a child and youth care centre, if the child is placed in a child and youth care centre) becomes an appropriate adult in whose presence the Written Notice must be handed to the child in accordance with subparagraph (3) (read with subparagraph (2)). A copy of the Written Notice must be handed to the person in whose temporary safe care the child is placed.
10. Dealing with a child who is 10 years or older and who is alleged to have committed an offence referred to in Schedule 1 of the Act if there are compelling reasons to arrest the child

(1) If there are compelling reasons to arrest a child who is 10 years or older and who is alleged to have committed an offence referred to in Schedule 1 of the Act, the member may arrest the child.

(2) Upon the arrest of such a child, the member must inform the child —
   (a) of his or her constitutional rights as provided for in paragraph 7(4) of Standing Order (General) 341 (Arrest and the treatment of an arrested person until such person is handed over to the Community Service Centre Commander); and
   (b) that he or she will be assessed by a probation officer who will explain to him or her the procedure that will be followed thereafter.

(3) Once a child of 10 years or older has been arrested, the child must be taken to a police station. The member who effected the arrest must record in the Arrest Statement the compelling reason (set out in paragraph 8(3)) that persuaded him or her to effect the arrest. The member must also state whether there is any reason (stating the reason) to believe that the child will pose a danger to any person (including himself or herself) if released.

(4) The Community Service Centre Commander must consider the Arrest Statement and any other information at his or her disposal to satisfy himself or herself whether the child will pose a danger to any person (including himself or herself) if released.

(5) If the Community Service Centre Commander is satisfied that the child will pose a danger to any person (including himself or herself) if released and that the child can therefore not be released, the Community Service Centre Commander must ensure that the child remains in detention and —
   (a) inform the parent, guardian or an appropriate adult of the arrest of the child;
   (b) complete a SAPS 583(j) (Information Notice upon the arrest of a child) and explain to the parent or guardian the contents of the notice and set the date of the preliminary inquiry as a date that will ensure that the child appears at the preliminary inquiry within 48 hours (as extended by the Criminal Procedure Act) from the time of the arrest of the child;
   (c) provide the Information Notice to the parent, guardian or appropriate adult and retain proof that the parent, guardian or appropriate adult received the Information Notice (if it is possible to hand the Information Notice to the parent, guardian or appropriate adult, the parent, guardian or appropriate adult must be requested to sign on the first duplicate original of the Information Notice to acknowledge receipt of the Information Notice);
(d) provide the first duplicate original Information Notice to the designated probation officer and retain proof that it was received by the designated probation officer; and
(e) make two copies of the Information Notice if the child will be detained at a child and youth care centre (or one copy if the child will be detained in a police cell (in which case the copy must be filed under "B" in the docket opened in respect of the case for which the child was arrested)).

(5) The Community Service Centre Commander must —

NATIONAL INSTRUCTION 6 OF 2014

THE PREVENTION AND COMBATING OF TORTURE OF PERSONS

1. Background
The right not to be tortured is entrenched as a fundamental right in Chapter 2 of the Constitution. The Prevention and Combating of Torture of Persons Act, 2013 (Act No.13 of 2013) criminalises torture and other offences associated with the torture of persons. The purpose of this instruction is to provide clear direction to members regarding their obligations in terms of the Act.

2. Definitions
In this document, unless the context otherwise indicates, —
(a) “interview” means the interview by a member of a person, who is an accused or suspect, regarding his or her alleged involvement in the commission of an offence or alleged offence, but excludes the interviewing of a person who is not suspected of having been so involved at the time of the interview (it also includes the initial interview by a member of a victim of alleged torture);
(b) “the Act”, the Prevention and Combating of Torture of Persons Act, 2013 (Act No. 13 of 2013);
(c) “torture”, as defined in section 3 of the Act, means:
   “any act by which severe pain or suffering, whether physical or mental, is intentionally inflicted on a person —
   (a) for such purposes as to —
      (i) obtain information or a confession from him or her or any other person;
      (ii) punish him or her for an act he or she or any other person has committed, is suspected of having committed or is planning to commit; or
      (iii) intimidate or coerce him or her or any other person to do, or to refrain from doing, anything; or
   (b) for any reason based on discrimination of any kind, when such pain or suffering is inflicted by or at the instigation of, or with the consent or acquiescence of a public official or other person acting in an official capacity, but does not include pain or suffering arising only from, inherent in or incidental to lawful sanctions”; and
(d) “transcribed” means a representation in writing or text of an audio recording.
3. Prohibition against torture
   (1) Section 4 of the Act provides that it is an offence for any person to —
       (a) commit torture;
       (b) attempt to commit torture;
       (c) incite, instigate, command or procure any person to commit torture; or
       (d) participate in torture, or conspire with a public official to aid or procure the commission of torture.

   (2) Section 4 of the Act provides that, despite any other law to the contrary, including customary international law, the fact that a member or employee who is accused of torture —
       (a) is or was a head of state or government, a member of a government or parliament, an elected representative or a government official; or
       (b) was under a legal obligation to obey a manifestly unlawful order of a government or superior, is neither a defence to a charge of committing an offence referred to in section 4 of the Act, nor a ground for any possible reduction of sentence, once that person has been convicted of an offence set out in section 4 of the Act.

   (3) No member may torture any person, permit or instruct anyone else to do so, or tolerate the torture of another by anyone. The same applies to an attempt to commit torture and to an act by any person which constitutes complicity or participation in torture. No exception, such as a state of war or a threat of war, state of emergency, internal political instability or any other public emergency will serve as justification for torture - there can simply be no justification for torture, ever.

4. Acting upon an order, reporting and complaints regarding acts of torture
   (1) An order by a superior, or any other authority, that a person be tortured, is unlawful and may not be obeyed.

   (2) If such an order is given, or if a member or an employee has reason to believe that a person has been tortured, he or she must immediately report this to the relevant station commander or unit commander or, in the event that the station commander or unit commander is involved, to the provincial commissioner concerned (if the order has been given to a member or an employee resorting under Head Office, or such member or employee has reason to believe that a person has been tortured, he or she must report this to the relevant divisional commissioner).
(3) A station commander, unit commander, provincial commissioner or divisional commissioner to whom a report set out in subparagraph (2) has been made, must ensure that any allegation or complaint regarding torture, is investigated and take steps to protect the member, employee or other person who made the report, against any form of victimization.

(4) A member or an employee who has reason to believe that a person is being tortured, or that an attempt is being made to do so, must immediately take all reasonable steps to put an end thereto.

(5) If a suspect or person in custody raises a complaint regarding torture, the complaint must immediately be reported to the station commander or, where appropriate, the provincial commissioner or divisional commissioner, who must report this to the relevant provincial office of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate: Provided that this does not exclude a person in custody to submit a complaint regarding torture directly to the Independent Police Investigative Directorate. An entry of all steps taken must be made in the Occurrence Book (SAPS 10) at the station where the matter was reported.

(6) If an investigation reveals that a member or an employee committed, attempted to commit or acted as an accomplice in the commission of torture, it constitutes serious misconduct and —

(a) disciplinary proceedings must immediately be instituted against such a member or employee; and

(b) a case must be registered on CAS (the relevant offences are set out in section 4(1) and (2) of the Act).

(7) The commander of a member or an employee, against whom disciplinary proceedings have been instituted due to allegations that he or she committed, attempted to commit or acted as an accomplice in the commission of torture, must on a monthly basis report progress to the relevant provincial or divisional commissioner on the disciplinary proceedings against the member or employee. The chairperson of a disciplinary hearing must provide the required information to the commander of such member or employee.

(8) Every provincial and divisional commissioner must keep record of all disciplinary proceedings instituted on account of allegations of torture and what the outcome of the proceedings was in each case. Every provincial and divisional commissioner must at the end of each month report to the Divisional Commissioner: Personnel Management (who must keep record thereof) all disciplinary proceedings instituted on account of allegations of torture and what the outcome of the proceedings was in each case.
(9) The commander of a member or an employee, against whom criminal proceedings have been initiated due to the allegation that he or she committed, attempted to commit or acted as an accomplice in the commission of torture, must on a monthly basis report progress on the matter to the relevant provincial or divisional commissioner. Every provincial and divisional commissioner must keep record of any criminal proceedings initiated against any member or employee, resorting under him or her, on account of an allegation of torture and the outcome of the matter. Every provincial and divisional commissioner must at the end of each month report to the Divisional Commissioner: Personnel Management (who must keep record thereof) any criminal proceedings initiated on account of an allegation of torture (as set out above) and the outcome thereof.

5. Interviewing of persons in custody

Every member must follow the following instructions when interviewing a person in custody:

(1) Before the commencement of the interview of a person in custody who has been arrested for the alleged commission of an offence, members conducting the interview must identify themselves and inform the person, in a language which he or she understands, —
   (a) of the offence in respect of which he or she will be interviewed;
   (b) of his or her right to consult with a legal practitioner of his or her choice or, should he or she prefer, to apply to be provided with the services of a legal practitioner by the state;
   (c) that he or she has the right to remain silent and that anything he or she says may be used as evidence in a court of law; and
   (d) of his or her right to apply to be released on bail.

(This must be recorded on form SAPS 3M(m))

(2) A suspect who is a child or mentally disabled person may only be interviewed in the presence of a parent, guardian or an appropriate adult and, if the suspect so prefers, a legal practitioner. If a parent, guardian, an appropriate adult or legal practitioner is not present when the child or mentally disabled person is informed as set out in subparagraph (1), the information must be repeated in the presence of such person(s).

(3) If a suspect indicates his or her willingness to make a confession or to point out anything, and he or she —
   (a) is an adult, he or she must,—
      (i) once again be informed of his or her right to consult with a legal practitioner of his or her choice or, should he or she prefer, to apply to be provided with the services of a legal practitioner by the state; and

(ii) be medically examined (at the nearest provincial hospital or, by the district surgeon or, if no provincial hospital or district surgeon is available, by another registered medical professional) before and after making the confession or performing the pointing out; or

(b) is a child, the procedure set out in the National Instruction on children in conflict with the law (National Instruction 2 of 2010) must be followed.

(4) A suspect who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor, drugs, medicine, or who is in a state of shock must not be interviewed, unless the interests of justice require otherwise.

(5) The following rules apply with respect to the duration of an interview:

(a) A person in custody must, during every period of 24 hours be allowed an uninterrupted period of at least 8 hours to rest, free from interviewing, travelling or any interruption arising out of the investigation concerned. This should usually be at night and this period may only be interrupted or delayed, if the interests of justice require otherwise.

(b) If it is necessary to continue the interview for more than two hours, the person being interviewed must be allowed a rest period of at least ten minutes after the completion of every two hour period of the interview.

(c) A person in custody must be afforded a reasonable opportunity to enjoy his or her meal during meal times and may not be interviewed while doing so.

(6) Not more than two members may be present during the interview of a suspect, and not more than three teams of two members each may conduct the interview of a suspect: Provided that, if the suspect poses a serious escape risk or displays violent behaviour, more than two members may be present during the interview.

(7) Whenever reasonably possible, a person of the same gender as the suspect, must be present during the interview (preferably a female member or employee should be present when a female suspect is interviewed).

(8) As far as practicable, interviews must take place in a room or office which must be adequately heated, lit and ventilated.
National Instruction 6 of 2014

(9) A note must be made in the Investigation Diary (SAPS 5) of the fact that the interview has taken place and what transpired during the interview and that it has been recorded electronically (if the interview is recorded electronically), the time, duration and the date and the identification number of the master disk, if applicable.

6. Objections and complaints during an interview
(1) Any objection raised by a suspect during the interview, must be recorded. After the objections have been recorded, or after the suspect has refused to have his or her objections recorded, the member must turn off the equipment (if the interview is recorded electronically). In such an event, he or she must record that the equipment will be turned off, give the reasons therefor, and turn it off.

(2) If the suspect lodges a complaint concerning his or her detention or if he or she gives information concerning a matter not related to his or her interview, such complaint or information must be recorded unless the person in custody objects to it being recorded. The decision to continue with the interview is that of the member. If it is continued, the member must inform the suspect that the complaint will be dealt with after the interview. The member must then deal with it as soon as the interview has been concluded or as soon as practicable thereafter.

7. Interruptions and short breaks during an interview
(1) Should the interview of a person in custody be interrupted, the member conducting the interview must, on the resumption of the interview, once again inform such person as set out in paragraph 5(1). This step must also be duly recorded.

(2) A short break, in which both the suspect and the member remain in the room, must be recorded. The equipment (if the interview is recorded electronically) may be switched off, but it is not necessary to remove the disk(s). Resumption of the interview must be recorded.

(3) Whenever there has been a break in the interview, the member conducting the interview must ensure that the suspect is still aware of his or her constitutional rights. If there is doubt, the suspect must once again be informed of his or her constitutional rights as set out in paragraph 5(1) (if the interview is recorded electronically).

(4) In the event of a failure of equipment (if the interview is recorded electronically) which can be rectified quickly, this must be done and the reason for any break must be recorded and the time when the interview resumes. Where the further use of the equipment is impossible and no alternative is readily available, the interview may continue without being electronically recorded.

8. Electronic recording

If a system of electronic recording of interviews is available, the system must be used during the interview of a suspect and the following instructions must be adhered to:

1. The electronic recording of an interview may only be done after the suspect has been informed that the interview will be electronically recorded and the entire interview (and not just a part thereof) must be recorded.

2. When a suspect is brought into the interview room, the member must, without delay, but in sight of the suspect, load the equipment with previously unused disks and set it to record.

3. The member must commence the interview by stating —
   a. that the interview is being electronically recorded;
   b. the name and rank of the member, the name of the interpreter and the name and rank of any other member present;
   c. the name of the suspect and any other party present (such as a legal practitioner);
   d. the date, time of commencement and place of the interview;
   e. inform the suspect as contemplated in paragraph 5(1); and
   f. what will happen to the recording after the interview.

4. If a suspect refuses to answer questions while the answers are being electronically recorded, but indicates his or her willingness to answer when the answers are not electronically recorded, this refusal and indication of his or her willingness must be recorded and the recording equipment may then be switched off before the interview continues. The member must thereafter again inform the suspect as contemplated in paragraph 5(1).

5. If a disk is reaching its end, the member must inform the suspect and round off that part of the interview, remove the disks and insert new disks, which must be opened in the presence of the suspect. The disk must be sealed with a master label and be marked with an identification number (such as the CAS number of the case) immediately after it has been removed from the equipment.

6. An interruption of the interview involving the suspect leaving the interview room, must be recorded, together with the reason for it and the duration thereof. The disk(s) must then be removed from the equipment and be dealt with in the same manner as if the interview had been concluded.

(7) If a disk is damaged during the interview, it should be sealed as a master disk and marked with an identification number in the presence of the suspect, and the interview should be resumed where it stopped. The undamaged disk (if there is one) should be copied and the original sealed in the usual way. If equipment for copying the undamaged disk is not readily available, both disks must be sealed in the manner set out above, and the interview resumed.

(8) At the conclusion of an interview, including the taking and reading back of any written statement, the person in custody must be offered the opportunity to clarify anything he or she has said and to add anything he or she wishes to add. The time must then be recorded and the equipment switched off.

(9) The disk must be used as a master disk, which must be sealed with a master label and marked with an identification number and treated as an exhibit. The member must sign the label and ask the suspect and any third party to sign it as well. If either, or both, refuse to sign the label, a member must be called into the interview room and be asked to sign it.

(10) The member must explain to the suspect the use of the recording, and the arrangements for obtaining access to it. A transcribed copy of the interview may, at the request of the suspect, be made available to him or her.

(11) The station commander of every police station is responsible for the safekeeping of the master disks. Seals may not be broken until they have been handed in as evidence at criminal proceedings. The master disks must be booked into the SAPS 13 register and on CAS.

9. Training

Any member who presents training on arrest, detention or the investigation of crime must ensure that every member is fully aware of the prohibition against torture. Every member must be trained to properly deal with persons in his or her custody and how to conduct an interview in a proper manner.

1. Purpose and background

It is the responsibility of the South African Police Service to ensure that a person in police custody receives medical treatment whenever it is necessary. From the moment of arrest the arresting member, and thereafter, every member who exercises control over a person in police custody, is responsible to promptly take the necessary steps to ensure that such person receives medical treatment whenever necessary.

2. Definitions

   In this Instruction unless the context otherwise indicates, —

   (a) "community service centre commander" means the member in charge of the community service centre and the member in charge of the detention facilities at an office under the control of the Service and includes a member who is performing the functions of a community service centre commander;

   (b) "child" means a person under the age of 18 years;

   (c) "medical service provider" means a medical or health practitioner who is registered as such in terms of the Health Professions Act, 1974 (Act No. 56 of 1974) (including service providers at hospitals or clinics, and pharmacies for the dispensing of medicine);

   (d) "detention facility" means a police cell, lock-up or temporary detention facility which is under the control of the Service; and

   (e) "person in police custody" means a person who is in the custody of the Service and who has not yet been handed over or handed back to the Department of Correctional Services or any other institution for detention.

3. Medical treatment of a person in police custody upon arrest

   (1) Once a person (adult or child) has been arrested, the arresting member has a legal duty to take care of the arrested person and to ensure that medical treatment is provided to the arrested person whenever necessary.

   (2) If the arrested person shows any signs that he or she is seriously ill or is seriously injured, irrespective of whether the injury was sustained during the arrest or not, the member concerned must —
(a) exercise his or her discretion and decide whether the person should be taken for urgent medical treatment even before he or she is taken to the police station; and

(b) if the arrested person, in the opinion of the member concerned, needs urgent medical treatment, decide whether the person is fit to be transported by police vehicle or should rather be transported by ambulance, and act accordingly. (Please note paragraph 15 of National Instruction 2 of 2010 with regard to the transportation of children.)

(3) If a member is in doubt as to whether urgent medical attention is needed, he or she should rather take the necessary steps to arrange for such treatment. Members must enquire from every arrested person before his or her detention whether he or she is currently being treated for a medical condition. If the arrested person is treated with prescription medication (or chronic medication) or indicates that he or she suffers from a chronic condition, arrangements must be made for the collection of the medication (see paragraph 9(4) of this Instruction) or the person must be taken to a medical service provider in order for the person to be examined and such medication to be obtained, if applicable.

(4) The station commander must issue station orders informing the members under his or her command of the applicable medical service provider that may be utilised for this purpose.

(5) If an arrested person is a child and has sustained any injury or suffered severe psychological trauma during the arrest or while in police custody, the member must take the child for immediate and appropriate medical treatment. Upon his or her arrival at the police station, the member must complete Part “A” of the Written Report on injury sustained or severe trauma suffered by child (SAPS 583(f)) recording the nature of the injuries sustained or severe psychological trauma suffered by the child and the steps taken to treat the child.

(6) The community service centre commander must —

(a) make an entry in the Injury Register (SAPS 583) regarding the injuries sustained or severe psychological trauma suffered by the child and the steps taken to treat the child; and

(b) immediately hand over the Written Report on injury sustained or severe trauma suffered by child (SAPS 583(f)), together with a copy of the medical report, if applicable, to the station commander or, if the station commander is not immediately available, ensure that the Written Report on injury sustained or severe trauma suffered by child (SAPS 583(f)) reaches the station commander (or the member in charge of the station in the absence of the station commander) immediately when he or she becomes available.

(7) The station commander must —
(a) speak to the child, if the child is still in police custody, or, if not, in another way, satisfy himself or herself that the child has received sufficient and proper treatment for the injuries sustained or severe psychological trauma suffered by him or her;
(b) complete Part “B” of the Written Report on the injury sustained or severe trauma suffered by child (SAPS 583(f)) and ensure that a copy of the Report is filed, together with a copy of the medical report, if applicable, under “B” in the docket;
(c) submit the Report, together with a copy of the medical report, if applicable, to the Provincial Commissioner concerned; and
(d) submit a copy of the Report and medical report, if applicable, to the provincial office of the Independent Police Investigation Directorate.

(8) The Provincial Commissioner concerned must, after having considered the Written Report and the medical report, if applicable, complete Part “C” of the Written Report on injury sustained or severe trauma suffered by child (SAPS 583(f)), and, if he or she is satisfied that —
(a) further steps are necessary, issue the necessary instructions to the station commander on further steps to be taken; and
(b) no further steps are necessary, submit a copy of the Written Report, together with a copy of the medical report, if applicable, to the Divisional Commissioner: Visible Policing.

(9) Any instruction given by the medical service provider concerning an adult or child must be carried out without delay. If removal to a hospital is ordered, all precautions must be taken to guard the person in police custody at the hospital.

4. Obtaining medical treatment for a person in custody during detention at a police station
(1) If a person in custody, on arrival at the police station, shows any injury, appears to be suffering from physical or mental illness, fails to react to sensory stimulation or displays a lack of awareness and such person, in the opinion of the community service centre commander, needs medical attention for the injury or illness, the community service centre commander must act as set out in subparagraphs (2) and (3) below. This also applies if the community service centre commander is in doubt as to whether medical attention is needed.
(2) If a person needs urgent medical attention, the community service centre commander must have the person transported, either by police vehicle or an ambulance, to the nearest provincial hospital or call the district surgeon and, if no provincial hospital or district is available, call the nearest available appropriate medical service provider. The station commander must issue station orders informing the members under his or her command of which medical service providers to utilise for this purpose. These orders must at all times be available in the community service centre and must be reviewed on a regular basis to ensure effective administration.

(3) If urgent medical attention is not required but the community service centre commander is of the opinion that medical attention is necessary, he or she must make the necessary arrangements to have the person examined at the nearest provincial hospital (or, if not available, by another medical service provider). The station commander must ensure that particulars relating to the applicable provincial hospital or other medical service provider that may be utilised for this purpose are at all times available in the community service centre.

(4) All medical consultations must be conducted in private, out of sight and hearing of a member, unless the medical practitioner specifically requests otherwise.

(5) Any instruction given by the medical service provider must be carried out without delay. If removal to a hospital, other than a Correctional Services hospital or sickbay is ordered, all precautions must be taken to guard the person in custody at the hospital.

(6) Medication prescribed by a medical practitioner for a person in custody must be administered in accordance with paragraph 9 of this Standing Order.

5. Recording of steps taken
All steps that were taken with regard to medical treatment of a person or child in police custody must be fully recorded in the Occurrence Book. The outcome of any medical examination must similarly be recorded, together with the name of the medical service provider and where the examination had taken place. If more than one entry be required, the different entries must be cross-linked in the Occurrence Book. The number of the first entry must be recorded in the Custody Register (refer to Standing Order 362 for detailed instructions).
6. Submission of written report concerning torture to station commander

(1) Whenever a person in custody is examined by a medical service provider provided by the state, the medical practitioner must be requested to supply the station commander with a written report, which must include the following:
   (a) any statements made by the person concerned which are relevant to the medical examination (including the description by the person concerned of his or her state of health and any allegations of torture that he or she may have made);
   (b) a description of the objective medical findings based on the medical examination; and
   (c) the conclusions of the medical practitioner in the light of subparagraphs (a) and (b).

(2) Whenever a complaint regarding torture is made to a medical service provider by a person in police custody and the medical service provider is of the opinion that the examination revealed indications which tend to confirm such allegations, the community service centre commander or station commander must request the medical practitioner to send a copy of the written report to the nearest office of the Independent Police Investigative Directorate. The community service centre commander or station commander must ensure that the matter is reported in accordance with paragraph 4 of National Instruction 6 of 2014 (The Prevention and combating of torture of person).

(3) The written report received by the station commander must be filed with the remand warrant and body receipts.

7. A request to consult with a specific medical service provider

(1) Irrespective of whether a person in police custody is, in the view of the community service centre commander, sick or injured, such person must, if he or she should request to do so, be permitted to consult with his or her medical service provider at his or her own expense.

(2) In such an event, the community service centre commander must contact the medical practitioner and inform him or her of the request and that such a consultation will be for the account of the person in police custody and that the Service will not pay for such consultation or treatment. The person in police custody must be permitted to speak to the medical practitioner. The steps taken with regard thereto must be recorded in the Occurrence Book and the procedure as set out in paragraph 5 above, must be followed at all times.

(3) All reasonable instructions from the medical service provider must be adhered to. If a member doubts whether a particular instruction is reasonable or not, a medical service provider at a provincial hospital may be contacted to verify this. If the medical service provider is of the opinion that the instructions are unreasonable and that alternative steps must be taken, he or she must be requested to confirm it in writing and the written instructions must be adhered to.

11. Preventive measures to be taken
(1) In order to prevent, as far as possible, the spread of tuberculosis or any other infectious disease, members are required, whenever circumstances permit, not to detain a person in custody suffering from tuberculosis or any other infectious disease, together with another person in a police cell.

(2) If the charge against a person with tuberculosis or any other infectious disease is of a petty nature, the possibility of warning him or her by means of a SAPS 496 to attend court, should be considered. If the charge is of a serious nature and he or she cannot be released on bail, he or she should, if at all possible, be detained in a separate cell.

(3) Persons with tuberculosis are often in possession of documents from the health department of the local authority, indicating that they are receiving treatment for their disease.

12. Notification of next of kin and disposal of body of person who dies in police custody
If a person in custody dies or becomes seriously ill, his or her next of kin, if known, must where reasonably possible, be promptly notified. If the body of the deceased is not handed over to the next of kin to be buried, it must be disposed of as provided in the relevant prescripts.

13. Submission of Return: Notification of deaths of persons in custody to the Independent Police Investigative Directorate (IPID)
It is the responsibility of the station commander to ensure that the IPID is notified of all deaths of persons in the custody of the Service. The procedure regarding the submission of a return regarding deaths of persons in the custody of the Service as determined by the Divisional Commissioner: Visible Policing from time to time (currently Head Office’s circular 2/26/55 dated 1997-04-01).
