The massacre that didn't change policing

Date: 18 August 2020    Time: 15:00 to 16:30 (GMT+2)

Venue: Online via Zoom, registration required

Enquiries: Gareth Newham, gnewham@issafrica.org

Eight years since the killing of 44 people, mostly by police, and the subsequent Marikana Commission of Inquiry, has policing changed in South Africa?

The inquiry found many problems with police leadership, accountability and operations. Despite this, high levels of police brutality and misconduct continue generally and also during the policing of protest marches. To what degree have the Marikana recommendations been implemented and are they still relevant today?

The seminar is jointly hosted by the Institute for Security Studies and the African Policing Civilian Oversight Forum.

Chair: Themba Masuku, African Policing Civilian Oversight Forum

Speakers:

Judge Ian Farlam (retired), former judge of the Supreme Court of Appeal and Chairperson of the Marikana Commission of Inquiry

Nomzamo Zondo, Executive Director, Socio Economic Institute of South Africa
